

DECISION IN WATKINS REMOVAL IS RESERVED

Governor Will Wait Until After Hearing on Similar Charges Against Youngstown Mayor, Before Announcing His Verdict

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—Governor Donahay will reserve decision on the question of removal of James Watkins, Youngstown chief of police, until after the hearing on similar charges against William G. Reese, suspended mayor of Youngstown, is concluded, it was announced at the governor's office today.

Mayor Reese's hearing is scheduled to start at one p. m. Monday. Chief of Police Watkins' hearing on charges of failure to enforce liquor, gambling and vice laws, ended late Friday.

Chief Watkins, on the stand in his own defense, strenuously denied that open law violations were permitted in Youngstown. He maintained that the city was policed as well as possible with a crippled police force.

William L. Bence, federal prohibition enforcement officer, declared Watkins was an efficient police chief, that there "was not an open saloon in Youngstown," and that he believed liquor law enforcement was more lax in Akron than Youngstown, and that law enforcement in Youngstown compares favorably with Canton.

ONTARIO WILL VOTE ON BEER AND WINE BILL

Referendum Will Be Held In Spring of 1924 It Is Announced

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 25.—The voters of Ontario will vote on a beer and wine referendum in the spring of 1924, according to announcement made here by government representatives.

These officials foresee the Ontario provincial government piling up yearly profits that will equal those of her sister province, Quebec, now reported to have made $3,000,000 during the year of her "wet" policy.

With the announcement that the Conservative government under Premier Howard Ferguson are preparing to set the stage for a "wet" hope, the prohibition leaders are initiating a "dry" campaign, and the battle for votes promises to be a lively one.

With the beer and wine referendum vote in sight, the Ferguson government is already starting to withdraw many of the "blue" laws passed by the late former government, with the result that Ontario, formerly known among her sister provinces as "Ontario the good," is slowly but surely having the lid pried off.

One of the first moves made by the Ferguson government has saved the taxpayers many thousands of dollars. This was the abolishment of the commission investigating the titanic hydro-electric system. Another move was the killing of the proposed former government "blue sky law." The anti-racing bill, that was a knockout blow to American papers furnishing racing information, has been taken to the courts and is now all set for the shelf.

While announcing that the present Ontario temperance laws must be obeyed and instructing the police to see that they are obeyed, the premier believes that the time is ripe and that the people of the province want a vote on a beer and wine referendum. This bill will likely carry and it will mean one more front that the American prohibition forces will have to watch as closely as they do Quebec.

SAWYER TO SERVE IN SAME CAPACITY

Washington, Aug. 25.—Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, who was personal physician to the late President Harding, will continue to serve in that capacity for President Coolidge, it was announced officially at the White House today.

"It is announced," the official statement said, "that Brigadier General Sawyer will continue as physician to the president, as under the former administration. He will be free to serve Mrs. Harding in any way that may be desired."

Sawyer is also chairman of the federal hospitalization board.

PAROLED CONVICT GETS GOOD POSITION

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—Butler R. Storck, 31, college graduate and world war captain, will leave the penitentiary a free man today after serving 21 months of a two year sentence, for forgery committed at Toledo. He will step immediately into a job that will pay $250 a month.

Storck was pardoned by Governor Donahay on condition that he carry on the interval correspondence school which he originated in the Ohio prison. He is to install this school in the penitentiaries of 13 other states.

Storck's correspondence courses by means of which more than 1800 Ohio prisoners are educating themselves, is being financed by Napoleon Hill, editor of the Napoleon Hill magazine, it was stated.

Lipton Here to Challenge For America's Cup

Sir Thomas Lipton, famous yachtsman, is in New York to challenge for the fifth time, for the America's Cup, which has been held in America for 70 years. He expects to sail the race in 1925.

FLIES ONE THIRD OF DISTANCE OVER U. S. IN 10 HOURS

Buchanan, Mich., August 25.—Flying from Cheyenne, Wyo., more than 900 miles in two airplanes, Mail Aviator Jack Knight arrived here at six a. m. in central time today to go to the bedside of his father, Dr. N. F. Knight, believed dying.

The flight consumed approximately ten hours and thirty minutes. Knight flew at an average altitude of 1,600 feet.

The flight was made in a government plane from Cheyenne to Omaha. There he mounted private plane. Most of the flying was unhampered but fog was encountered at Clinton, Iowa, and at Iowa City.

The flight was almost one third of the way across the continent.

TAKES OVER DUTIES WITH RAILROAD

Cleveland, August 25.—Herbert Fitzpatrick of Huntington, W. Va., was to assume his new duties as vice president and counsel of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad today, following his election late yesterday by the directors' meeting here to succeed Henry T. Wickham, of Richmond, Va., who will remain as advisory counsel.

Mr. Wickham, who is 74, asked to be relieved of the heavy burden of work on the general counsel but in accepting his resignation the directors insisted that he remain in an advisory capacity.

PINCHOT CALLS MINE CONFERENCE

WORLD'S LARGEST DIRIGIBLE IS NOW READY

Here is a photograph of the ZR-1 (Zeppelin Rigid No. 1), taken on the day she was launched from her cradle in the United States Naval hangar at Lakehurst, N. J. The world's largest dirigible will make her first flight shortly, and this cut will be handy when she flies. The ship was assembled under the supervision of Commander R. D. Weyerhecker, U. S. Navy, assisted by Captain Antone Heine, of the Zeppelin Works, Friedrichshafen, Germany. They are shown in the control basket of the airship.

COURT DECLINES TO APPROVE HECHT BOND EFFECTING RELEASE

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—Federal Judge Sater here today refused to approve bond for $30,000 for the release of Fred W. Hecht, held in the Montgomery County Jail, charged with embezzling $10,000 from the American National Bank and Trust Company, Dayton.

Judge Sater stated that he will file a written opinion in Federal Court at Dayton Monday explaining why the bond was not approved.

Signers of the bond were: Philip Haas, Harry W. Krebs, Eugene Aring, H. H. Gerstner, John E. Stahl, Henry L. Shellhase, Martin C. Hecht, George E. Behm, Adam Holzhauser, Johanna May Whittell and Frank Riesinger.

SEEK REMOVAL OF OFFICIALS AT MEET

Piqua, O., Aug. 25.—Law enforcement was discussed last night at a mass meeting of citizens called by ministers of the city. The meeting was an outgrowth of the indignation meeting held Thursday by business men when a protest was made against dry officers from West Milton taking Piqua citizens charged with violating prohibition laws to that village for prosecution. A committee of Piqua citizens next week and ask the removal of Rev. S. A. Blessing, who had charge of the raids, and Mayor A. D. Karns of West Milton, who, it is charged, levies excessive fines in liquor cases.

BABY IS CRUSHED BY FATHER'S TRUCK

Lima, August 25.—Two year old Mary Jane Long saw her father driving his automobile back through a lane towards home, near Bluffton, yesterday afternoon. Then she toddled down the driveway with cries of happiness on her face. She stumbled and fell directly in the path of the heavy machine and was crushed to death. The wheels passed over the baby's head. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Long, the parents who are prostrated are under the care of physicians.

GASOLINE SOAKED CLOTHING IS FATAL TO BELLBROOK BOY, AGED 3

George C. Hook, three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Hook, Bellbrook, died Friday night at seven o'clock, from burns received, Friday morning at eight-thirty o'clock.

The parents of the child reside with Mr. Hook's mother Mrs. George Hook. Mr. and Mrs. Hook went to Dayton, Friday morning, and left the child in the care of his grandmother who was busy canning fruit.

The father operates a garage across the alley from the residence, and while his grandmother was busy in the house, the child opened the door of the garage, and upset a can of gasoline upon himself.

He ran crying to his grandmother, who immediately attempted to take the gasoline-soaked clothing from his body. In the meantime, a vessel of sealing wax, on the stove, caught fire, and the flames spread over the kitchen, igniting the boy's clothing, which was still on him. Mrs. Hook succeeded in extinguishing the flames but the child was seriously burned, and had inhaled the flame. The lad lived until seven o'clock. The parents were notified in Dayton, at ten o'clock in the morning of the accident.

Two other children survive the child's death, besides the parents. Funeral services will be held "from the late home, Sunday afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock, with interment at Bellbrook."

ALLIES MAY MEET IF NOTE ACCEPTED

Paris, Aug. 25.—The mysterious rumors of an approaching allied conference originated from Brussels, where it is stated the Belgian note to Britain will suggest such a conference, it is revealed here. The idea of the conference is skeptically received in inside quarters in Paris, where it is believed that Premier Poincare would agree to such a conference only on the condition that all the main points of contention be actually settled privately before the assembly called by the green table. Poincare's Ruhr policy, backed in its entirety by President Millerand and by all the members of the cabinet, will not change in the fortnight interval which Premier Baldwin's departure for Aix les Bains promises.

OPTIMISTIC NOTE ON EUROPE FUSS

Paris, Aug. 25.—Foreign office officials were hopeful today that Chancellor Stresemann's speech in Berlin yesterday is the forerunner of a change of attitude by Germany regarding the Ruhr and reparations. It was pointed out that the German chancellor refrained from the use of such words as "occupation," "evacuation," or "passive resistance." The whole tone of the German leader's speech indicated a more conciliatory viewpoint by Germany in the future. Newspapers, commenting upon the Stresemann speech, declared that it "contains possibilities."

London, Aug. 25.—With both Premier Stanley Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon in France, the reparations situation was in a state of stagnation today.

There is a disposition in official circles to regard Chancellor Stresemann's Berlin speech as virtual acceptance of the proposals put forward by England for control of German finances.

WIFE OF FORMER XENIAN IS DEAD

J. H. McPherson and Dr. C. G. McPherson went to Columbus, Saturday to attend the funeral of Mr. McPherson's sister-in-law, Mrs. William McPherson, wife of Dr. William McPherson, former Xenian, now connected with the Ohio State University.

Mrs. McPherson died Thursday morning, after a lingering illness. Besides her husband, she is survived by a son and daughter, Heston McPherson, a graduate of Harvard University this year, and Miss Gertrude McPherson, of Columbus. Dr. McPherson is head of the department of chemistry at the State University.

Mrs. McPherson had often visited, and was well known in this city. Funeral services were held at the late home in Columbus Saturday morning with interment at that city.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE MACHINERY IS SET IN MOTION TO AVERT STRIKE

Every Weapon and Artifice of State Governing Body To Be Brought Into Play in Final Effort to Prevent Hard Coal Tie-Up.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25.—Both the miners and operators today made it known that they would accept Governor Pinchot's invitation to a conference at Harrisburg, Pa., on Monday.

Harrisburg, Pa., August 25.—Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, today sent telegrams to the deadlocked anthracite operators and miners at Atlantic City, summoning them into conference here on Monday.

This action was the first step in the governor's program to bring about a settlement of the differences which threaten to bring about a shutdown in the hard coal fields on September 1.

Meantime it has become known that the Pinchot plans for dealing with the warring factions are virtually formulated.

The machinery of a powerful state government was set into action today by Governor Pinchot in an effort to avert a shutdown in the hard coal fields on September 1.

Every weapon and artifice at the command of the state of Pennsylvania is to be employed in a final effort to bring the two factions together. If necessary, Governor Pinchot intimated, the "big stick" will be wielded to prevent a recurrence of last winter's fuel famine.

Early today Pinchot plunged into a series of conferences with his aides. State Attorney General George Woodruff was one of the first to visit the governor. Woodruff has been examining the state health laws with a view to ascertaining what possible action could be taken should there be a strike with subsequent suffering from lack of coal.

Secretary of Mines Joseph Walsh was another early caller at the governor's suite in the state capital. Walsh, formerly a mine inspector, enjoys an acquaintance with every operator and miner chief in the state and is counted on to be a leading figure in the conferences here next week.

Governor Pinchot is proceeding with the federal government squarely behind him. Upon his shoulders rests the entire burden of averting a strike. Charged by President Coolidge "to take hold of the anthracite situation and endeavor to find a solution," the Pennsylvania governor has been left free to act unhindered and unchallenged.

While reticent as to his plans, Governor Pinchot is known to be determined that the operators and miners shall get together. Returning on the train from Washington last night he was asked what he would do. "Everything possible will be done," he replied. "Not forgetting—" and here he pointed significantly to a picture of Theodore Roosevelt, famed wielder of the "big stick" which was printed in a magazine he had been reading.

The governor lost no time in swinging his forces into action following his conferences yesterday with President Coolidge and John Hays Hammond, chairman of the United States Coal Commission. Returning to Harrisburg, he entered immediately into conference with Secretary of Mines Walsh and late into the night he was still hearing reports from his assistant.

CINCINNATI'S FALL FESTIVAL OPENS ON FRIDAY EVENING

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 25.—A parade, including more than 100 floats, last night, opened the Cincinnati Fall Festival, reviving an institution that for years paralleled the famous fairs of Leipzig and Prague—a combination of industrial exposition, pleasure carnival and musical contest.

Military and civic organizations, church bodies and music societies, labor unions and trade councils took part in the pageant.

Miss Olga Emrick, winner of a recent beauty contest, was "Miss Cincinnati," a role she will play at Atlantic City in a national pulchritude contest. Miss Norma Groen was "Miss 1923."

Two men on the driver's seat of a float and a number of girls who appeared in allegorical costumes on the float, were affected by carbon monoxide gas and required medical attention immediately after the parade. The men collapsed and were sent to a hospital.

TELLS OF PROBLEMS IN JUVENILE COURT WORK AT MEETING

Probate Judge J. Carl Marshall told members of the Richland Community Club of the problems of juvenile court work at the monthly meeting of the organization in the Richland School Friday night. More than 100 members were present.

Judge Marshall's address was the principal feature of an entertaining program. He explained the value of home life in rearing a child and said effort was made in his court to place public wards in private homes before they were committed to state institutions.

A program of music recitations and readings preceded Judge Marshall's talk. A quartette composed of Orville Watkins, Thomas Conklin and Misses Flora and Martha Beam, sang several numbers. A vocal duet was the offering of Misses Mildred Edwards and Mrs. Edwin Walley and readings were given by Mrs. Orville Watkins and Mrs. James Matthews, besides a recitation by Miss Hazel Matthews. The Glee Orchestra, augmented by additional instruments, also furnished music.

A scheduled election of officers at the business session was not carried out, and it is thought that the officers will be selected at the next meeting. Mrs. James Lawrence, is president and presided at Friday night's meeting. Delmer Compton, is secretary.

WAR ON PUBLIC DRINKING STARTS

Lima, O., August 25.—War on hip pocket drinking at public dance halls and pavilions at summer parks was opened here last night, when police arrested four youths and declared that every person smelling of liquor at the amusement places would be searched. If pocket flasks are found, charges of possession of liquor, carrying heavy jail sentence and fine under the new Ohio enforcement act, will be preferred. Special detectives will circulate through dance hall and park crowds nightly from now on while a uniformed policeman will be present to make arrests, the identities of the "breath sniffers" being kept secret.

SOVIET REPUBLIC PRESIDUM HOLDS FIRST SITTING

This photograph shows the first sitting of the Presidium of the United Socialist Soviet Republic in Moscow, with Mr. Kalinin presiding. Members of each of the four republics which united into the socialistic union—the Russian Socialist Republic, the Ukraine, White Russia and Transcaucasia—were present.

"Civilization Must Stop Waste," warns Wizard Steinmetz

Sun Energy is Boundless if Used by Mankind Intelligently.

Charles Proteus Steinmetz, one of the great geniuses of the world, came to America an immigrant in the steerage, 34 years ago. He was a cripple from birth, as his father had been before him, but he brought from Breslau, Germany, a splendid education, and a mind trained to hard application. Steinmetz laid the foundations upon which the marvelous development of modern electricity has been built. Every great electrical power plant in America is a monument to his genius. He has invented literally hundreds of improvements and adaptations in the use of the electric current, but the thing that has made his fame world wide is his penetrating knowledge of the fundamentals, his philosophy of civilization, and his sympathy with the needs of humanity.

By CHARLES P. STEINMETZ

IT IS POSSIBLE for us to heat our houses, cook our food, run our great industries, recharge our automobile batteries, and give energy to our radio sets by sun energy. The great source of life on earth—sun power—will be used more fully as mankind is forced by necessity to seek new means of generating heat. More than one way may be found. Crops of new and rapidly growing plants, for instance, may be developed by our botanists and grown on vast acreage by the farmers, to be burned and turned into energy.

It only needs someone to find the proper electro-magnetic wave and we will drive our factories by power transmitted by radio. Picture a great power plant, fed by some scientific and inexpensive fuel, hurling immense waves of electric power into the air, tuned to follow magnetic waves around the world.

Wherever there were receiving stations built and equipped to tap that wave, actual power would be transmitted to commerce and industry at that point. Such a development would require international agreement but its practical development would quickly secure the co-operation of every nation.

In that way the botanist could cut the coal bills of the nation until not only the necessities but the luxuries of life were within the reach of all. Such radio distribution of water power also is not merely an alluring vision but may become an actuality.

The wider development and use of water power and its broader distribution must come about in a few years. The state of New York alone could cut its coal bill for industrial purposes and the use of public utilities two-thirds by using water power, even without radio transmission. There is available in that state 4,000,000 horse power, or a saving of 34,000,000 tons of coal annually, for you must remember, coal is a very wasteful commodity. A great deal of its heat goes up the chimney and a great deal more radiates from boilers and pipes and never serves any useful purpose.

At present the consumption of fuel in New York is 54,000,000 tons yearly. Recent strikes in coal fields and on railroads have shown that neither of them can be relied upon and that the only real solution of the matter is to become independent of them both.

Water power developing 1,300,000 horse power is now being used in New York, saving annually 10,000,000 tons of coal. The United States uses 10,000,000 horse power generated by water, a saving of 80,000,000 tons of coal annually, and there is a latent horse power of 50,000,000 more, or a saving of 400,000,000 tons. It would still be necessary to use 100,000,000 tons of coal a year for heating.

use of coal. But it behooves us to make the best and fullest use of such things as electricity has to offer in the present.

It is possible that the future of the world lies in the hands of the botanists who will, sooner or later, tell the farmers what crops to grow to get the most out of the sun's energy. But the present of the world, and particularly America, lies in the intelligent economical use of what we already have.

There is no ultimate benefit to the consumer if the great factory turns out goods at an economical price and then the delivery charges added to times and cut his costs to a minimum. Through its use prices to the ultimate purchaser will drop.

Great electrical inventor sees sun-power and water-power broadcasted by Radio. Humanity must have food at lower cost by more intelligent delivery methods.

FRUIT GROWERS AND CONSUMERS TO USE CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

Columbus, August 24.—Farmers of Ohio who use fruit, and others who grow it, are expected to practice some direct co-operation through their co-operative associations this year, according to C. W. Waide, fruit and vegetable marketing director of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation.

A plan for using co-operative elevators and other co-operative associations for direct purchase of supplies of Ohio grown fruit has been drawn up.

Under this plan, farmers in sections where fruit is not grown in sufficient quantities, to meet home demands, will place their orders for apples and peaches through their local co-operative. The orders will be filled in carload lots directly from co-operative sales associations in apple and peach growing territory in the state where cooperative associations are prepared to fill the demand, Waide said.

EAST END NEWS

All roads lead to the East High School, where the big union Camp Meeting and Religious Chautauqua, sponsored by all of the Colored Churches in Xenia holds sway. Rev. Nathaniel Hawthorne Jeltz, who is known throughout America and in Canada, as the "Colored Billy Sunday" is in charge of these services, and it is generally reported by the hundreds who throng the spacious auditorium nightly to hear him, that he is literally "shell-shocking" the evil doers of the community with his gospel broadsides in song and sermon. Unlike most evangelists, Mr. Jeltz is also a singer of note and directs the big gospel chorus nightly in the singing which he dove-tails most effectively into his clean cut and clearly specified gospel messages.

A novel feature of this campaign, which is city wide in its scope among the people of Color, and is the first of its kind to be ever attempted by the Colored pastors of the city—is the morning parlor prayer and song services that are being held each morning in the homes of the leading families of the community. Dr. Jeltz and wife personally direct these greetings and they are proving an innovation and source of spiritual inspiration to the leaders in matters social of this group in this community.

On Sunday, Dr. Jeltz will address a mass meeting of women only—in the school at three p. m. Mrs. Lucelia Jeltz, wife of the evangelist, assisted by the wives of the associated ministers will act as receiving matrons at this meeting. No men or girls under 14 will be allowed. The subject of this sermon address will be "The God Woman." At the evening hour of the same day the evangelist will deliver his famous sermon, "The Homeland of the Soul." The general public is most cordially invited to all these services. Rev. G. V. Becton, C. H. Young, A. M. Howe, Raphael Hancock, and J. M. Tate, Pastors.

FIVE WORKERS BURNED

Youngstown, O., Aug. 25.—Five men were burned, one perhaps fatally, when a large pile of molten slag exploded as a crucible dropped on it at the plant of the Republic Iron and Steel company. Stephen Marko and Joseph Horwat were taken to a hospital, where it was said that Marko may die.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl almost nineteen years of age and am living with my parents. I am abused terribly. Many times a boy friend of mine asks me for dates and I have to refuse because they object. Sometimes when I happen to meet a boy friend on the street he asks me to go to the show and of course I go. If I happen to come home rather late my father and mother fuss at me and often slap me. They think that I am very easy.

I have a sister who is fifteen years old who can go wherever she pleases without asking. Do you think that my parents are treating me right? MISS D. S.

I do not know just what you imply when you say that your parents think that you are "easy." I presume that they believe you are too familiar with boys and that they are anxious for your welfare. Of course it does not increase their trust in you when you deliberately oppose them and go to the show with some boy.

My advice is to obey your parents as well as you know how. When they see that you are earnestly trying to please them, they will soften toward you and will grant you the freedom that your sister enjoys.

Never forget that when a girl places little importance on her self-respect and is cheap she is throwing mud at herself. You are not hurting your parents if you do wrong half so much as you are hurting yourself. Be proud of your character and protect it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been out of town visiting for about three weeks and when I came home I broke my engagement to a man whom I have been betrothed to. I met a certain young man whom I care for considerably and when I came home I wrote him a note of thanks. My relatives live in that town and I feel sure he knows my betrothal has been broken. I care for his company very much, and so please tell me what to do.

Is it proper to keep all the gifts I have received for my engagement? BLACK EYES.

Since you have written a note to the young man, you have done all you can. If he is interested in you he will follow up the note.

Send back the gifts of value, such as jewelry.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man of thirty and was engaged to a lady of twenty-one. I loved her as much as a person could and I know she did the same. When she said she would get married I bought everything and was ready to go to housekeeping. When the time came the girl's mother made the girl leave town. She also told her not to write to me. Now I am broken-hearted. I do not know what to do and so please advise me.

There is only one thing a person can do who has suffered bitter disappointment, and that is to make a brave new start and hope for a more kindly future. Perhaps you can use the things you have bought to fit out an apartment and then rent it furnished. Or you may be able to return many of the things under the circumstances. Time and the fates have proved that the young woman was not for you. Do not lose heart, however; there are many more women in the world, and you will find someone else if you try.

The Ketter's Grove service will be at 2 p. m. The Xenia Male Quartette will sing. The band will play special numbers. Rev. E. W. Middleton will deliver the gospel sermon.

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday will close the labors of another conference year, and Trinity offers the following program. Sunday School, 9:15 a. m. with classes suited to all. Public worship with sermon by the pastor, V. F. Brown, 10:30 a. m. Sermon theme: "How to Live the Continuous Successful Christian Life." No evening service, but Trinity will join in the Union service at the Reformed Church, at which time the Rev. C. P. Prouditt will preach. The hours will be 7:30.

BURIED MONDAY

The body of T. J. Canny, who was killed when the "speeder" on which he was riding caught in a switch, throwing him against the railing, resulting in immediate death, will be shipped to his former home in New Paris, Ohio, Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Funeral services will be held from St. John's Catholic Church, at New Paris, Monday morning at nine o'clock. Interment will be made at New Paris. Friends may call at the late home on Hill Street, at any time Saturday evening.

McClelland Neighborhood

Miss Mildred McCall, of Upper Bellbrook pike, has received an appointment as teacher in U. P. Mission school at Horse Creek, Tenn. She had been re-elected as teacher in Ross Township centralized schools but was released by the school board. The school is located near Greenville, Tenn. and is among the mountain white people. Miss McCall will leave for Tennessee the last week of August.

Miss Rosalie Hollingshead of Lower Bellbrook pike in company with a college classmate is enjoying a two week stay at Eagle's Crest Pa. They made the trip from Toledo. Miss Hollingshead will teach in Cincinnati public schools the coming year.

Vance Gage of Van Eaton road has decided to lay down the shovel and the hoe. He will have a public sale, Oct. 11 but as yet has not definitely decided where he will locate. Lawrence Manor has leased the Gage farm and will take possession March 1 when Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Gage will remove to Xenia.

We are going through the agony of zigzagging the flyover over miles of fresh gravel but have the satisfaction of knowing that it means good roads for months to come and no big macadam bill to pay, also incidentally the money for the labor goes to the farmer.

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Sunday School at 9:15 o'clock. No morning service until the first Sunday in September.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday School will be held at 9:15 at the Church. No change in place of meeting, classes for all ages.

COURT NEWS

PARTITION IS ALLOWED

Partition of property involved in the case of R. O. Routzong, administrator against Thornton Newcomer and others has been allowed in Common Pleas Court. The court holds that Adrian T. Stiles and Thornton Newcomer are each entitled to a one-third interest and that Clara Ethel Chinn and Arthur Dale are joint owners of the other third.

WINS THREE JUDGMENTS

"FOLLOW ME" WILL PLAY HERE AUG. 30

The 1924 edition of "Follow Me" will make its appearance at City Hall Theater August 30, through arrangement with the Standard Amusement Company, as the attraction that will open the season at the local theater.

"Follow Me" is a colored musical comedy road attraction that created much favorable comment last season, and which played the Victory Theater, Dayton, to a large audience. The cast is greatly increased this season and augmented by many names celebrated in the colored theatrical world.

Among the best known performers are Billy Higgins and Clifford Ross, two inimitable and irresistible funmakers. Ernest Whitman, the smiling "straight man" with the voice of an opera singer and Julius Costello with his nimble feet, are also featured.

Among the female performers are Dainty Valada Snow, who singing, dancing and playing of numerous musical instruments are of the highest order, and Julia Moody, Susie Sutton and Alice Gorgas who have achieved much fame through the medium of phonographic records. Elvira Johnson, exponent of the art of terpsichore is another featured feature and the "Follow Me" quartette is also highly mentioned.

The chorus is said to be large and lightfooted and dith singing good, with good costumes and scenic investiture.

AGED MEMBER OF FARM BUREAU HAS BIRTHDAY; IS 96

Thomas Watkins, Chandlerville, Illinois, and two of his great grandchildren, Harry Bixler, nine, and John Bixler, seven. Mr. Watkins is the oldest farm bureau member in Illinois, as far as can be ascertained; his ninety-sixth birthday was celebrated the other day.

Mr. Watkins owns a 240-acre farm in Richmond precinct, Cass county, where he has lived for about 70 years. He was born in Green county, Kentucky, moving to Illinois when two and one half years old. He has voted in 76 general elections. Mr. Watkins signed up readily in the farm bureau, stating that although he was probably too old to derive much benefit himself, the organization is of great benefit to others.

The executive committee of the Cass county farm bureau presented Mr. Watkins with a gold medal in June in honor of his distinction as Illinois' oldest farm bureau member.

TO COMBAT PRICE FIXING IN STEEL

S. H. Thompson, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, has been appointed by Governor Len Small of Illinois to represent the American Farm Bureau federation on the state commission empowered by the recent legislature to fight the "Pittsburgh Plus" practice of setting steel prices. In addition to Mr. Thompson, the commission is composed of B. F. Baker, Kewanee, Ill.; B. F. Peek, Moline, Ill.; Senator John T. Denvir and State Representatives J. E. McMakin and R. E. Scholes. The Illinois commission will co-operate with the attorney generals of Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and other states. The United States Steel corporation has now closed its testimony before the Federal Trade commission in the suit now pending. The commission has granted the request of the farmers' representatives to delay the rebuttal hearings until December.

HOME MARKETS TO BE SUPPLIED

A careful investigation of home markets with a view to supplying them, and thereby keeping within the state the great amount of money sent out annually for agricultural products, is called for in the farm bureau program outlined by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau federation.

According to statistics compiled by Mr. O'Neal, farmers of Alabama have a wonderful opportunity to supply home markets if they will determine what is wanted and produce products to meet the requirements. These statistics show that 47 per cent of corn, 31 per cent of hay, 84 per cent of Irish potatoes, 35 per cent of sirup, 75 per cent of meat, 50 per cent of meal, 80 per cent of fruits and 59 per cent of the vegetables handled by dealers in Alabama come from out the state. Nearly all of the poultry, eggs and butter are produced in Alabama.

COOLIDGE'S SONS ARE HARD AT WORK

Calvin Coolidge Jr. and John Coolidge

When President Coolidge went to Washington to take up the reins of government his two sons did not accompany him. One, Calvin, Jr., aged 14, is shown here holding some of the tobacco leaves he has just plucked on the Dickinson & Day farm, at Hatfield, Mass., where he is working this summer at $3.50 a day. He puts in full nine hours daily, under a hot sun, attired in khaki breeches, old shirt and well-worn shoes. His employers didn't know who he was until after his father took the oath of office. Mr. Coolidge's other son, John, aged 16, is a buck private in the Citizens' Military Training Corps, at Camp Devens, Mass.

"LEST WE FORGET."

Wheat $1 a bushel and the farmers have the "blues." Some of them are already "hogging-in" their corn fields—(turning the hogs in;) and many are talking of feeding wheat to stock instead of corn. And some of them are thinking that we never had such hard times before. They are forgetting the advantages we have, as a country, compared to conditions in many parts of the world.

The fact is we are "flying high" as a people, else why are so many from other parts coming here, fleeing from intolerable predicaments in their old homes? And when we go abroad and find how poorly people live in some sections, we hasten home to "God's country" as we term our own blessed land.

But, adds the distressed farmer, we are not talking about things the world over, we are talking about our own country—we never had such "hard times" here. Mistaken again. We often have seen the time when we thought things couldn't be worse. Do you remember when how glorious Kansas was being eaten up by grasshoppers and drouth, and the roads were blocked with teams of people fleeing from starvation conditions?

And, do you remember, only about twenty years ago, when corn was ten cents a bushel? This writer does. He has seen out west piles of ten cent corn twenty feet high and felt the warmth of burning corn, because coal was so dear. Fact. And now, how glad the farmers have been of the good rains we have been having, every one of them helping in the making of the seventy-five cent November corn crop. Fact, number two.

So, in the midst of our condolence with the farmer over his dollar wheat, we will cheer him a little over his seventy-five cent corn this fall, which will help equalize things, and make him feel that he can postpone for awhile his trip "over the hill to the poorhouse."

It was John Newton who said: "I see in this world two heaps—one of happiness, and the other of misery. Now, if I can take but the smallest bit from the second, and add it to the first, I carry a point. I should be glad indeed to do great things, but I shall not neglect such little ones as this."

The fountain of content must spring up in the mind, and he has so little knowledge of human nature as to seek happiness by changing anything but his own disposition, will waste his life in fruitless efforts and multiply the griefs which he seeks to remove.

A SOUTHERNER'S LOVING TRIBUTE TO HARDING.

Richard H. Edmonds, of Baltimore, long owner and editor of the "Manufacturers Record," is one of the great men of the country. He was born at Norfolk, Va., and lived much in the South but has been loyal to the country. Just before the late world war he wrote a strenuous appeal for patriotism entitled "Shall this nation live or perish?" He is an able writer and has published many pamphlets of a high order in advocacy of good citizenship.

Here are a few sentences from his long edition in the Manufacturers Record, on the death of President Harding:

"A great soul, loving, tender, considerate, a consecrated Christian who missed no opportunity to testify to his belief in the reality of the religion he professed, who enriched the world by his life and leaving behind him a memory of conscientious devotion to duty, has passed to his reward."

"President Harding more nearly typified the beloved McKinley probably than any other man who has ever sat in the presidential chair. He was big enough to gather around him the ablest men to be found in his party. The small man seeks mediocrity around him for fear that greatness might overshadow him. President Harding was not of that type. He sought for members of his Cabinet and for other positions of responsibility men of outstanding ability."

"His death means that a greater responsibility now rests upon every American to carry forward the work of the nation without halting. The leader has gone but we must close ranks and move forward with firm step and unswerving faith to accomplish the great purposes for which this nation was founded."

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

LITTLE BY LITTLE
Little by little the lesson's learned,
Little by little the oak tree grows,
Little by little the field is turned,
Battles are won by the little blows;
So be you patient and work and wait,
Little by little all things grow great,
Dream you not of the single stroke

That shall bring you glory and wealth and fame;
All things must carry Time's heavy yoke,
Little by little the forests came,
You must grow as the tree to the goal desired,
Little by little is skill acquired.

Day by day through the ages long
Time has waited for better things,
Waited through centuries red with wrong,
And the seeming triumphs of mighty kings;
But little by little, as men cut stone,
Kinder and wiser the world has grown.

Little by little all things are done,
Little by little the building's made,
So stand you fast to the task begun,
And be you dauntless and unafraid,
Work and wait for the goal in view,
Little by little all dreams come true.

Today's Talk

George Sand says that "Books whisper to the heart, but pictures speak to the soul."

The artist selects the fundamentals of what he sees and puts them into immortality through his pictures. And we are thrilled by the fact that he saw what we passed by.

The artist is an idealist. The world of people is mostly practical—striving for a certain success or goal. The artist paints and pictures goals already attained. He dips his brush or pen or other art tool into the reservoir of his heart. His picture that hangs upon your wall is what his soul told him to produce. The artist is not disturbed by mere success. Most great artists have died hungry, but happy.

High interpretation of the simplest truths and most commonplace instances is the aim of the artist.

And so pictures have a story and an aroma of beauty about them that nothing else has, or can give.

There is always something greatly lacking in a home where there are no pictures. They do not have to be rare or expensive pictures, for today beautiful reproductions of the greatest works of art may be had for trifling sums.

I was told the other day an interesting story about a very well known man. His own daughter told me. This man was a great lover of art and had collected during his lifetime some wonderfully beautiful pictures. "Every night," said his daughter, "before father retired, he would go around the rooms and take a parting look at these gems he loved so much."

The minute I got into a hotel room, I look around for the pictures. If there are some good reproductions, I am immediately made less lonely.

The one who creates pictures lives in a life quite apart, for his task is that of toiling and toiling that his soul may catch the essence of beauty at his most inspired moment. The only part of the world that he sees go by is its beautiful part.

So you see how much it will mean to you to love pictures, to have them around you, and to gladden the hearts of others by often giving beautiful pictures.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Cedarville, Ohio,
Editor The Gazette and The Republic

In a recent issue of a county newspaper was a statement relative to a record run of paper tonnage at the plant of the Hagar Straw Board and Paper Co. In justice to the former management allow me to correct this statement that 143 tons was the record. I have the run records for some time back and find this run of 143 tons for 5 1/2 days was exceeded when 150 tons was run in 5 3/4 days for the week ending on Sept. 4th, 1920. The week of July 24th, 1920 was 148 tons and numerous weeks can be cited that exceeded 143 tons. I quote these facts and figures not as a reflection on the machine men but to give credit where it was due the past management.

LOW BIDDER FOR ROAD SURFACING

A. C. Pickeimer, Cincinnati contractor, was low bidder on two different grades of bituminous macadam for the proposed partial re-surfacing of the Dayton and Xenia pike, according to bids announced in Columbus Saturday by State Highway Director Boulay.

If the work is let at this time the re-surfacing will start yet this summer, according to County officials here. The work calls for four miles of re-surfacing from Xenia and will carry the improved roadwork about to Alpha.

Pickeimer's bid for bituminous macadam A-1 was $38,199.90, and J. I. Geiger of Dayton, offered a bid on the same grade of bituminous macadam submitted $38,756.60. Pickeimer bid $37,847.70 for bituminous macadam T-1. The letters and figures signify the grade of work, officials say. The Cincinnati contractor being low on each grade.

Boulay announced low bidders on contracts for 52 miles of road construction and 29 miles of repair and maintenance work, estimated to cost $2,065,736.

LOCAL BANK USES NEW SYSTEM FOR ACCOUNTS

The Commercial and Savings Bank of this city is announcing the installation of a Burroughs Bookkeeping Machine, which will be used to post ledgers and in carrying out the statement system of handling customers' accounts.

Under the new system patrons will be supplied with a printed statement each month giving checks and deposits for the month with a balance each month. The balance will thus be available without bringing in pass books.

stripes, and the ground is gray. But the buttons are not the least bit color-shy. They are frankly and brightly green. So, too, are the slender straps of leather which encircle the wrists and waist, tying in a graceful bow. And last, but extremely important, is the green bit of a handkerchief in the pocket of the scarf, because it calls attention to this original detail.

Perhaps you have read of the splendor of the Grand Prix Ball in Paris, the gorgeous annual event which marks the close of the social season there, and which frequently influences the fashions to a marked degree. This year the costumes were of the Chinese type, with the result that already the Chinese influence is said to be playing an important part in the colors and embroideries of the season. This is also evident to some extent in hats, an example of which is shown in the sketch. This mandarin-like turban from Georgetown is of velvet, trimmed with a shellacked quill around the crown.

Recovers $50,000 Gems Left In Taxicab.

Taxicab drivers will stand high in the estimation of Miss Ruth Thomas as a guest at the Hotel Bristol, in New York City. She left $50,000 worth of jewels in a taxi driven by Bernard Reilly. A short time after she had notified the police of her loss Reilly walked into her hotel and handed her the gems. She gave him $500 in crisp $5 bills, which she had intended offering as a reward.

FIRES AS AN INDEX TO INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS

A NEW index of business conditions, especially in certain industries, has been discovered. When there is a marked increase in the number of fires in the establishments of a given industry, it will be found that business in that industry is in bad condition. This assertion is made by Frank R. Morgaridge, who directs the work of the Committee on Incendiarism and Arson of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and is probably the leading authority in the world on the subject.

"You can generally tell the condition of the garment industry, for instance, that it is overstocked, that orders have fallen off and business has slackened away generally, by a marked increase in the number of fires in factories producing such goods," said Mr. Morgaridge. "Take another industry—the leather industry. When we went into the war there was an immediate demand for all sorts of leather products and while the war continued, there was not a single fire in a leather factory. When the war ended and business in that industry slumped, there was a sudden outbreak of fires in leather factories. Why was this?"

Commenting upon the chart recently made public by the Glens Falls Insurance Company, proving from a study over the past eleven years that when business is good, fires decrease and when business is bad, fires increase, he said:

"The figures are there to prove the conclusion. You cannot deny the obvious fact which they prove. Moral hazard is something which cannot be measured, but it must be reckoned with, and it behooves us all to work together toward suppression of this crime."

The committee is working with local authorities in all parts of the country to assist them in investigating cases of incendiarism. In a number of cities, the Police Departments have organized special Arson Squads; Detroit, St. Louis, Dallas and Norfolk being notable examples. Influenced by the large number of incendiary fires in New York City, its District Attorney has created a special department for the investigation and prosecution of this class of crime, appointing an Assistant District Attorney for this special purpose.

Mr. Morgaridge ascribes the existence of moral hazard in fire insurance to the general break-down of morals in the past few years, pointing out that never before were failures from dishonesty, robberies and all sorts of crime so prevalent. Insurance companies, he says, are doing everything they can to minimize insurance of suspicious risks.

PENNSYLVANIA IS SETTING MACHINERY TO AVOID WALKOUT

Washington, Aug. 25.—President Coolidge called in Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania and requested him to make a further effort to mediate the differences between the anthracite miners and operators and avert the strike threatened for Sept. 1.

Governor Pinchot accepted the task and left immediately for Harrisburg, where he promptly will get in touch with the two warring factions. The governor said he had not decided whether he would summon the opposing leaders from Atlantic City singly or jointly. He will follow whichever method seems to hold out the best hope of bringing an agreement.

With this development the main effort to save the country from a hard coal tieup and possibly a sympathetic strike in the soft coal fields is transferred from the national capital to the Pennsylvania state capital. The white house said that this action did not mean that Governor Pinchot "has assumed anything or that the United States has abandoned anything."

The new plan, the spokesman on behalf of President Coolidge stated, is merely one of co-operation between the governor and the federal authorities. The federal government, it was further asserted, has not relaxed its efforts to prevent a strike, but has sought the aid of the Pennsylvania state authorities because they have "jurisdiction more intimate and complete over properties and persons engaged in mining anthracite than that held by the United States authorities." The anthracite industry is confined entirely within the borders of Pennsylvania. The governor has a state license system and other regulatory powers through which he may deal with the situation.

A possible sympathetic strike by the bituminous miners, if the hard coal workers go out Sept. 1, was given some consideration by government officials. Open threats were made that the Sherman anti-trust law would be invoked to combat such a movement. One high official said such a sympathetic strike manifestly would be a conspiracy in restraint of trade under the Sherman law.

At the department of justice it was said the legal branch of the government would be ready to act in the strike when directed to do so by the president. Agents of the department already have made a theoretical examination of the points of law which may be involved, so that action will not be delayed should it become necessary.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25.—The action of President Coolidge in placing Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania in virtual charge of the anthracite strike situation took miners and operators by surprise. The operators privately expressed disappointment that the president himself had not taken a direct hand in attempting to bring about a settlement. They declared the strike danger was not a "state affair," but a "national problem."

The miners declared they saw in the president's action the plan of the government to keep hands off and to give the union the chance to carry out the threat of John L. Lewis, president of the miners, "to administer to the operators the worst trouncing in their career."

Meanwhile the officials are going ahead vigorously in preparation for a strike Sept. 1.

RECORD FLIGHT IN AIR ACCOMPLISHED

Hempstead, N. Y., Aug. 25.—All records for flight across the continent were broken when Pilot Wesley L. Smith of the air mail service landed here, completing a relay mail flight from San Francisco in 26 hours and 14 minutes.

While the mail plane lowered the time of Lieuts. Kelley and MacReady, the army fliers' transcontinental flight was made without a stop and the distance covered was less than the mail's course. Furthermore several pilots and planes were used and four stops made in the air mail's record-breaking dash across country, the mail being transferred from plane to plane at the stop-offs just as the pony express riders used to do in the old days.

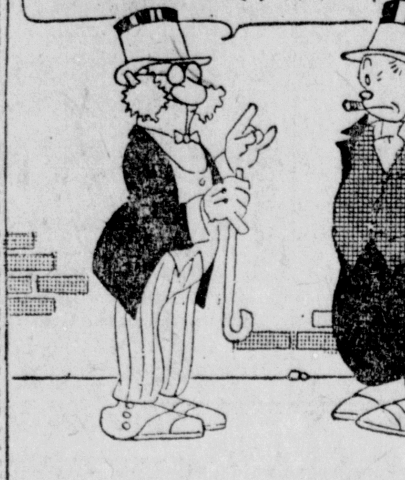

The mail flights have been so successful that Postmaster General New announced a regular air mail between New York and San Francisco probably would be established soon. C. F. Edge, general superintendent of the air mail service, sent out a wire of congratulation to the service.

Smith, pilot of the plane and a New Yorker, said he had achieved his ambition in the air service and would retire soon to cultivate his baritone voice for opera.

FARM NEWS OF GREENE COUNTY

FARM PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED BY SPEAKERS AT JOINT GRANGE AND FARM BUREAU OUTING

Representatives of four states, Ohio, Michigan, Virginia and Indiana, and of fifteen Ohio counties, attended the picnic, staged by the Greene County Farm Bureau and Grange, at the Fairground, Friday. The day's crowd was estimated at fifteen hundred people.

Attracted by the informal get-together features of the picnic and the unusual program of vital interest to members of both organizations and agricultural men as a whole, farmers from far and near began to arrive at the picnic grounds at ten o'clock in the morning, when the program was scheduled to start.

Following the series of games and contests for boys, girls, men and women, dinner was served throughout the grounds by farmers, families and friends.

Xenia, as one of the four cities of Ohio, fortunate to secure Walton Petzet, director of co-operative marketing for the National Farm Bureau Federation, was the meeting place of farmers from over this section of the country to hear Mr. Petzet, and a group of other speakers of state and national importance in farm questions.

The program of speeches, following dinner, was held in the Art Hall, which seats about one thousand people. W. B. Bryson, president of the Greene County Farm Bureau, presided, and introduced the speakers of the afternoon. These included Mr. Petzet, C. A. Dyer of the Ohio State Grange, and Mrs. W. G. Vandenberg, Zanesville, Home Economics specialist, time limiting only three of the several phases of agricultural interest scheduled for the afternoon to be presented to the audience.

The program opened with an introductory talk by Mr. Bryson followed by the singing of "America." The Xenia Grange Orchestra gave selections to intersperse the speeches. The invocation was given by the Rev. Mr. Gordon, Jamestown.

C. A. Dyer, of the Ohio State Grange, one of the greatest students of taxation problems in the state was the first speaker, on "Taxes." The speaker opened with a discussion of the Taft law, a new legislative tax code, which is hanging fire in legislative halls. Neither the Farm Bureau or Grange has taken a stand pro or con on the Taft law. Mr. Dyer explained but he immediately voiced his opinion as being in favor of the new law.

He gave two reasons for his acceptance of the law, first that it does not bother the present system of taxation and second, combined with the Griswold law, will put Ohio out of debt.

"Officers that levy taxes today, will not hold their positions if the new law goes into effect according to Mr. Dyer, and the new system will create a 'real budget system.' The tax budget will be put in the hands of a budget commission, the speaker explained, and the public will be given more freedom to examine the process of levying taxes.

"The Smith law is the most vicious law ever enacted in the State of Ohio," declared Mr. Dyer.

The new budget commission, created under the Taft law, will be given one power, that to reduce the tax levy to fifteen mills. The Taft law provided two sets of limitations, that of rural and city. "If the Taft law succeeds, you will save eighty-five cents a thousand less than last year," Mr. Dyer said.

"The trouble with the farming communities and the public as a whole, is that they have been thinking politics and not public business," the speaker declared. "I was not in favor of woman suffrage but my wife made me vote for it, and I am now convinced that women will keep the country out of debt, and draw us men out of the mire of politics."

"You have a chance to fight extravagance under the Taft law, that you never had before, by being given the power to go before the budget commission and having the tax expenses cut," Mr. Dyer told his audience. "The Taft law means that there will not be the expense of special elections, outside of the November election; it makes it harder to issue bonds and it will save the state of Ohio a million dollars a year."

"The Grange and Farm Bureau have fought the state levy, so that they can spend it at home. There is one danger in the Taft law—it makes more money for current expenses. "The Albaugh law appoints a board of assessors, which is now the auditor's job, and is nothing but a political scheme," declared Mr. Dyer.

"The country people are foolish if they turn the Taft law down."

At this point County Auditor R. O. Wead questioned Mr. Dyer on his statements concerning special elections and bond issues. Both men misunderstood the statements of the other and after a short cross-fire, settled the matter to their mutual satisfaction.

Mr. Dyer also discussed the Workmen's Compensation Law, amendment, which comes up this year. He explained the fact, that the law gives the workman hurt while at work, and entitled to the Workmen's compensation, the liberty of refusing the compensation and suing his employer. The compensation law question according to Mr. Dyer is an expensive proposition and creates a new class of dependents. "It destroys civilization and creates fraternalism and is a snafu for the so-called 'uplifters.'"

"The power of government grew out of the creation of personal property and to me, personal property is the most sacred thing on earth. "Get rid of tax-free securities."

"Any farmer that does not belong to a Farm Organization, is a charity patient in that he is reaping the benefits of the cooperation of the organization, without paying," the speaker declared.

Walton Petzet, director of co-operative marketing for the National Farm Bureau Federation, the second speaker, opened his address, with a short tribute to O. E. Bradford, of Xenia, president of the National Farm Bureau Federation. "He is taking a commanding position in the field of organized agriculture," Mr. Petzet said.

"The Agriculture of the nation is now passing through one of the most important phases in the world, which is equal to that of the Industrial Revolution," said the speaker. "Some fundamental change must be made for agriculture a declining and farmers are moving from the country to the city."

"The investment of labor and capital, in agricultural production, yields a lower return over a period of years, than in any other enterprise. "The permanency of agriculture and civilization, depend on the ward of investment in agricultural production. No nation can survive, when agriculture declines."

"The permanency of agriculture and civilization, depends on the reward of investment in agricultural production. No nation can survive, when agriculture declines."

"The present conditions are not peculiar to any one section of the country, but apply to all. In every state I have visited, the farmers voice the same complaints, and are dissatisfied with present conditions. Something must be done, for the spirit of unrest, varies only in degrees."

"Ohio has been more wholesome, but has had the same discontent. She has shown more understanding, and is less willing to embrace the unsound doctrines of relief. The reason for this is that Ohio has a balanced system of agriculture, and has the leadership of farm organizations, with fixed programs, where other states are not so fortunate."

"The reason for the decline in agriculture is that industry is steadily going up. Two generations ago all producing was done by one individual. The industrial revolution changed from the basis of individual selling to group selling."

"Today every article of commerce, except agriculture is sold jointly by many men. There is joint labor and capital, industry has devised a corporation, the machine of co-operation and pooled her labor and capital."

"Agriculture remains alone as an example of individual production and selling. Agriculture will never be restored until it avails itself to the same efficiencies, as industry and commerce."

"The problem confronts the American farmer, that to bring agriculture to the same plane, they must retain individual production, also group selling and combine under co-operative associations. This fact is being realized everywhere, as a forward movement."

"It is no longer a question whether farmers will co-operate, but a question of when and how they will do it. No farmer in Ohio is strong enough or wise enough of his own product to market for its true value the product of his farm. Men of trade and co-operation must be equally versed in the product handled. The average farmer must know all phases of his business and the market."

"Today, the business of agriculture is manufacturing the same as any other field of labor. Farmers are combined into a dual person of producer and consumer. They have found a solution in co-operating for marketing, and have been found ready to co-operate, and are loyal and sincere, but they require that they must get value received."

"The aim of co-operative marketing is to merchandise farm products—to substitute merchandizing for dumping supplies on the market, regardless of the consuming power of that market."

"Farmers have always felt that there was a league of conspiracy against them. They measure their opportunity by what they get for what they sell and what they pay for what they buy. There is no conspiracy but the blindness of farmers. They are not prepared to regulate their prices, and as long as they sell blindly and dump, the buyer is going to name the price, and agriculture as a result will be unstable."

"The remedy for this condition is co-operative merchandizing, and the regulation of your surplus."

"Factors that are necessary to merchandise farm products, are the existence of the right type of co-operative organization, a purely business organization, operated by commodity and not operated for profit. Every member of the organization must produce the product handled. Members of the association, must have a contract with the central association."

"The maximum efficiency of co-operative organizing is yet to be reached. The organization must employ experts, exert democratic control, and study the market, and needs of the consumer, and extend the market."

"An important secret is to regulate your supply and increase your demand. The difference is the difference between loss and gain, and is only reached through co-operative marketing."

"All products will some day be marketed cooperatively," Mr. Petzet said in closing.

Mrs. W. G. Vandenberg, Zanesville, was the last speaker on "Home Economics." She appealed to the women, concerning their part in the farm organizations, and farm house management.

Opening at ten o'clock, a series of games and contests was arranged by the contest committee. The following are the prize winners:

Contests for Boys—100 yd. dash, Hollis Peterson, $1.00; James Stormont, .50; horse shoe pitching, James Stormont, $1.00; Charles Funk, .50; obstacle race, John Finney and Malcolm Finney, box of candy.

Contests for Girls—50 yd. dash, Mildred McKay $1.00; Rowena McKay, .50; ball throwing contest, Helen Conklin, box of candy; potato race, Lucile Pitstick $1.00; Marguerite

Burrell .50.

Contest for Women—Nail driving contest, Mrs. Ray Fudge, box of candy ball throwing contest, Mrs. Mildred Watkins, box of candy; peanut race, Mabel Stormont, $1.00; Mrs. Pitstick .50.

A Tug-of-War, between ten men and twenty women, was won by the women.

Styles BY LENORE

An interesting collar-treatment is illustrated in the green and black crepe marocain two-piece costume shown in the sketch. The diagonal line of the black ball buttons create an unusual effect. Royal blue and navy is another smart combination for this design, and the former shade is particularly timely.

WORTH KNOWING

Wide bow pleats are said to be the new idea in imported clothes. Gypsy sash girdles are a lively note in fall fashions.

Ribbons plays an important part in curious embroidery effects. Square necklines are being tried out in fall dresses.

There is a trend toward softer cloths in woolsens.

Some of the newest evening frocks are made with almost bizarre simplicity—of crepe satin, with plain bodices and circular skirts. An old-fashioned nosegay may be perched on the shoulder.

Jaunty looking three-quarter length coats of soft woolsens are suggested for between-season wear.

Again it is announced that the bobbed head is doomed. Unless it is cropped close to the head and shingled.

A WIFE'S STORY

By Jane Phelps

Chapter X

How I reached the station I never knew. But somehow I found myself on the train for home. I felt as if everything were slipping from under me, as if there was no longer any thing stable in the world.

It may seem strange, considering my doubts of Paul's success, my fears, that what had happened should so affect me. But when one considers that from the time I met him, his book, the publishing of it, the glory that would come because of it, had been the big thing in my life; it may not seem so strange. Then too, our need of money—Paul had made me feel how desperately we needed it—his lack of a profession or business experience by which he might earn it, frightened me.

Little Joan toddled to meet me. I fairly snatched her to my breast, and without taking off my wraps I rocked her in my arms, holding her close, crooning over her. She was my only comfort.

To my surprise Paul came home. Neither of us referred to the incident of the afternoon. He was very quiet, almost surly, and I effaced myself as much as possible.

Evelyn and George Markham came in during the evening.

"You're looking seedy," George said to Paul. "You are working too hard. All work and no play, you know, isn't good for anyone."

"You're a nice one to talk!" Evelyn broke in. "A man who slaves as you do is a nice one to give advice."

"I have to keep at it. My profession demands it. But it's different with Norwood. A writer's time is his own, especially a lucky one, like Paul, who has money to live on while his ideas are forming. By the way, Paul, how is the great American novel coming on?"

A dull red flush crept over Paul's face, and I turned hot, then cold, scarcely breathing while waiting for his answer.

"I haven't been working very much lately, had other things that demanded my time and attention," replied Paul, urbanely. "Writing is only a pastime with me."

I saw a quickly repressed look of surprise cross Evelyn's face. When we first became acquainted I had made a confident of her, had told her of my hopes and ambitions, my belief that Paul was a genius, that his book would mark him as a great writer.

How easily one can believe—when they want to.

I felt chagrined, even angry, as my husband so easily parried their questions. He knew his years had been wasted, that his book was a failure, that he had not done anything else that prevented working on it. I felt like screaming it all at them: the afternoon's incident, my disillusionment, all that was making me so miserably unhappy.

But instead I tried to smile, to talk, but Evelyn saw the effort it cost me, and soon proposed they leave.

"Rubbish looks all in, tonight," she said. "We had better go and let her go to bed."

"She always looks tired when she goes in town to shop," Paul answered. "Tries to spend too much money I guess."

"She's lucky to have it to spend," George said as they rose to go.

"What did you say that for? You know it isn't true! I exclaimed as the door closed after our guests. "You know it wasn't the little shopping I did that tired me; and too much money! The little I have to spend nowadays. What's the use of pretending any longer? I'm tired of it, tired to death."

"Yes, I suppose you are, and with your small country ideas would like to publish the fact we were broke, and have my creditors swooping down upon me. You keep still about my affairs. I won't have you talking to the Markhams, or to anyone. The way you acted tonight they're bound to suspect."

"But they'll have to know soon, everybody. We can't live without money, not without a good deal according to the way we have spent it since we married. Oh, why won't you be frank with me, tell me just how we stand, let me help you."

Paul suddenly looked old, tired. "Don't talk to me tonight! I can't stand it!" and taking his hat, he rushed from the house.

THOUGHT BACK WOULD BREAK

Nothing Helped until She Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"When my baby was born," says Mrs. Posluszny, 106 High Street, Bay City, Michigan. "I got up too soon. It made me so sick that I was tired of living and the weakness run me down something awful. I could not get up out of bed mornings on account of my back; I thought it would break in two, and if I started to do any work I would have to lie down. I do not believe that any woman ever suffered worse than I did. I spent lots of money, but nothing helped me until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I felt a whole lot better after the first bottle, and I am still taking it for I am sure it is what has put me on my feet."

If you are suffering from a displacement, irregularities, backache, nervousness, headache or any other form of female weakness you should write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts, for Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." It will be sent you free upon request. This book contains valuable information.

DECISION IN WATKINS REMOVAL IS RESERVED

Governor Will Wait Until After Hearing on Similar Charges Against Youngstown Mayor, Before Announcing His Verdict

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—Governor Donahay will reserve decision on the question of removal of James Watkins, Youngstown chief of police, until after the hearing on similar charges against William G. Reese, suspended mayor of Youngstown, is concluded, it was announced at the governor's office today.

Mayor Reese's hearing is scheduled to start at one p. m. Monday. Chief of Police Watkins' hearing on charges of failure to enforce liquor, gambling and vice laws, ended late Friday.

Chief Watkins, on the stand in his own defense, strenuously denied that open law violations were permitted in Youngstown.

He maintained that the city was policed as well as possible with a crippled police force.

William L. Bence, federal prohibition enforcement officer, declared Watkins was an efficient police chief, that there "was not an open saloon in Youngstown," and that he believed liquor law enforcement was more lax

SAWYER TO SERVE IN SAME CAPACITY

Washington, Aug. 25.—Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, who was personal physician to the late President Harding, will continue to serve in that capacity for President Coolidge, it was announced officially at the White House today.

"It is announced," the official statement said, "that Brigadier General Sawyer will continue as physician to the president, as under the former administration. He will be free to serve Mrs. Harding in any way that may be desired."

Sawyer is also chairman of the federal hospitalization board.

PAROLED CONVICT GETS GOOD POSITION

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—Butler R. Storck, 31, college graduate and world war captain, will leave the penitentiary a free man today after serving 21 months of a two year sentence, for forgery committed at Toledo. He will step immediately into a job that will pay $250 a month.

Storck was pardoned by Governor Donahay on condition that he carry on the interval correspondence school which he originated in the Ohio prison. He is to install this school in the penitentiaries of 13 other states.

Storck's correspondence courses by means of which more than 1800 Ohio prisoners are educating themselves, is being financed by Napoleon Hill, editor of the Napoleon Hill magazine, it was stated.

ONTARIO WILL VOTE ON BEER AND WINE BILL

Referendum Will Be Held
In Spring of 1924 It is Announced

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 25.—The voters of Ontario will vote on a beer and wine referendum in the spring of 1924, according to announcement made here by government representatives.

These officials foresee the Ontario provincial government piling up yearly profits that will equal those of her sister province, Quebec, now reported to have made $3,000,000 during the year of her "wet" policy.

With the announcement that the Conservative government under Premier Howard Ferguson is preparing to set the stage for a "wet" hope, the prohibition leaders are initiating a "dry" campaign, and the battle for votes promises to be a lively one.

With the beer and wine referendum vote in sight, the Ferguson government is already starting to withdraw many of the "blue" laws passed by the late former government, with the result that Ontario, formerly known among her sister provinces as "Ontario the good," is slowly but surely having the lid pried off.

One of the first moves made by the Ferguson government has saved the taxpayers many thousands of dollars. This was the abolishment of the commission investigating the titanic hydro-electric system. Another move was the killing of the proposed farmer government "blue sky law." The anti-racing bill, that was a knockout blow to American papers furnishing racing information, has been taken to the courts and is now all set for the shelf.

While announcing that the present Ontario temperance laws must be obeyed and instructing the police to see that they are obeyed, the premier believes that the time is ripe and that the people of the province want a vote on a beer and wine referendum. This bill will likely carry and it will mean one more front that the American prohibition forces will have to watch as closely as they do Quebec.

FLIES ONE THIRD OF DISTANCE OVER U. S. IN 10 HOURS

Buchanan, Mich., August 25.—Flying from Cheyenne, Wyo., more than 900 miles in two airplanes, Mail Aviator Jack Knight arrived here at six a. m. in central time today to go to the bedside of his father, Dr. N. F. Knight believed dying.

The flight consumed approximately ten hours and thirty minutes. Knight flew at an average altitude of 1,600 feet.

The flight was made in a government plane from Cheyenne to Omaha.

There he mounted private plane.

Most of the flying was unhampered but fog was encountered at Clinton, Iowa, and at Iowa City.

The flight was almost one third of the way across the continent.

TAKES OVER DUTIES WITH RAILROAD

Cleveland, August 25.—Herbert Fitzpatrick of Huntington, W. Va., was to assume his new duties as vice president and counsel of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad today, following his election late yesterday by the directors' meeting here to succeed Henry T. Wickham, of Richmond, Va., who will remain as advisory counsel.

Mr. Wickham, who is 74, asked to be relieved of the heavy burden of work on the general counsel but in accepting his resignation the directors insisted that he remain in an advisory capacity.

PINCHOT CALLS MINE CONFERENCE

WORLD'S LARGEST DIRIGIBLE IS NOW READY

Capt. Antone Heine & Co. R.D. Weyerbecker and Z.R. 1

Here is a photograph of the Z.R. 1 (Zeppelin Rigid No. 1), taken on the day she was launched from her cradle in the United States Naval hangar at Lakehurst, N. J. The world's largest dirigible will make her first flight shortly, and this cut will be handy when she flies. The ship was assembled under the supervision of Commander R. D. Weyerbecker, U. S. ## COURT DECLINES TO APPROVE HECHT BOND EFFECTING RELEASE

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—Federal Judge Sater here today refused to approve bond for $30,000 for the release of Fred W. Hecht, held in the Montgomery County Jail, charged with embezzling $10,000 from the American National Bank and Trust Company, Dayton.

Judge Sater stated that he will file a written opinion in Federal Court at Dayton Monday explaining why the bond was not approved.

Signers of the bond were:

Philip Haas, Harry W. Krebs, Eugene Aring, H. H. Gerstner, John E. Stahl, Henry L. Shellhase, Martin C. Hecht, George E. Behm, Adam Holzhauser, Johanna May Whitsett and Frank Riesinger.

SEEK REMOVAL OF OFFICIALS AT MEET

Piqua, O., Aug. 25.—Law enforcement was discussed last night at a mass meeting of citizens called by ministers of the city. The meeting was an outgrowth of the indignation meeting held Thursday by business men when a protest was made against dry officers from West Milton taking Piqua citizens charged with violating prohibition laws to that village for prosecution. A committee of Piqua citizens will appear before Governor Donahay next week and ask the removal of Rev. S. A. Blessing, who had charge of the raids, and Mayor A. D. Karns of West Milton, who, it is charged, levies excessive fines in liquor cases.

BABY IS CRUSHED BY FATHER'S TRUCK

Lima, August 25.—Two year old Mary Jane Long saw her father driving his automobile truck through a lane towards home, near Bluffton, yesterday afternoon. Then she toddled down the driveway with cries of happiness on her lips. She climbed and fell directly in the path of the heavy machine and was crushed to death. The wheels passed over the baby's head. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Long, the parents who are prostrated are under the care of physicians.

GASOLINE SOAKED CLOTHING IS FATAL TO BELLBROOK BOY, AGED 3

George C. Hook, three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Hook, Bellbrook, died Friday night at seven o'clock, from burns received, Friday morning at eight-thirty o'clock.

The parents of the child reside with Mr. Hook's mother Mrs. George Hook. Mr. and Mrs. Hook went to Dayton, Friday morning, and left the child in the care of his grandmother who was busy canning fruit.

The father operates a garage across the alley from the residence, and while his grandmother was busy in the house, the child opened the door of the garage, and upset a can of gasoline upon himself.

He ran crying to his grandmother, who immediately attempted to take the gasoline-soaked clothing from his body. In the meantime, a vessel of sealing wax, on the stove, caught fire, and the flames spread over the kitchen, igniting the boy's clothing, which was still on him. Mrs. Hook succeeded in extinguishing the flames but the child was seriously burned, and had inhaled the flame. The lad lived until seven o'clock. The parents were notified in Dayton, at ten o'clock in the morning of the accident.

Two other children survive the child's death, besides the parents. Funeral services will be held from

ALLIES MAY MEET IF NOTE ACCEPTED

Paris, Aug. 25.—The mysterious rumors of an approaching allied conference originated from Brussels, where it is stated the Belgian note to Britain will suggest such a conference, it is revealed here. The idea of the conference is skeptically received in inside quarters in Paris, where it is believed that Premier Poincare would agree to such a conference only on the condition that all the main points of contention be actually settled privately before the assembly around the green table. Poincare's Ruhr policy, backed in its entirety by President Millerand and by all the members of the cabinet, will not change in the fortnight interval which Premier Baldwin's departure for Aix les Bains promises.

London, Aug. 25.—With both Premier Stanley Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon in France, the negotiations situation was in a state of stagnation today.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE MACHINERY IS SET IN MOTION TO AVERT STRIKE

Every Weapon and Artifice of State Governing Body To Be Brought Into Play in Final Effort to Prevent Hard Coal Tie-Up.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25.—Both the miners and operators today made it known that they would accept Governor Pinchot's invitation to a conference at Harrisburg, Pa., on Monday.

Harrisburg, Pa., August 25.—Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, today sent telegrams to the deadlocked anthracite operators and miners at Atlantic City, summoning them into conference here on Monday.

This action was the first step in the governor's program to bring about a settlement of the differences which threaten to bring about a shutdown in the hard coal fields on September 1. Meantime it has become known that the Pinchot plans for dealing with the warring factions are virtually formulated.

The machinery of a powerful state government was set into action today by Governor Pinchot in an effort to avert a shutdown in the hard coal fields on September 1.

Every weapon and artifice at the command of the state of Pennsylvania is to be employed in a final effort to bring the two factions together. If necessary, Governor Pinchot intimates, the "big stick" will be wielded to prevent a recurrence of last winter's fuel famine.

Early today Pinchot plunged into a series of conferences with his aides. State Attorney General George Woodruff was one of the first to visit the governor. Woodruff has been examining the state health laws with a view to ascertaining what possible action could be taken should there be a strike with subsequent suffering from lack of coal.

Secretary of Mines Joseph Walsh was another early caller at the governor's suite in the state capital. Walsh, formerly a mine inspector enjoys an acquaintance with every operator and miner chief in the state and is counted on to be a leading figure in the conferences here next week.

Governor Pinchot is proceeding with the federal government squarely behind him. On his shoulders rests the entire burden of averting a strike. Charged by President Coolidge "to take hold of the anthracite situation and endeavor to find a solution," the Pennsylvania governor has been left free to act unhindered and unchallenged.

While reticent as to his plans, Governor Pinchot is known to be determined that the operators and miners shall get together. Returning on the train from Washington last night he

DEVELOPMENTS IN COAL SITUATION

Chief developments in the coal situation today were:

1.—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, summoned representatives of the anthracite operators and miners to meet together at Harrisburg Monday in a final effort to reach some agreement that will avert a walkout Sept. 1. Pinchot delegated by President Coolidge to "find a solution" that will avert a strike has formulated a plan of action.

2.—At Atlantic City, representatives of the miners and operators are agreed that a mere summoning of the warring factions, for another conference will be without results unless Governor Pinchot is prepared to offer "constructive suggestions." The miners are proceeding with plans to issue a suspension order to the 155,000 anthracite miners Tuesday.

3.—Illinois union bituminous miners pledge moral and financial aid to anthracite workers and any other kind of support you may want through a telegram from James Mason, secretary to Frank Farrington, union leader to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

4.—The federal government marks time, awaiting results of Governor Pinchot's intervention, with the entire responsibility, temporarily at least, shifted from Washington to Harrisburg.

DEVALERA OUT OF LUCK.

Dublin, Aug. 25.—Eamonn DeValera leader of the Irish Republicans will not be permitted to take his seat in the Dail Eireann even if he is elected Monday, it was semi-officially stated today. DeValera is standing for election in County Clare.

ROBBERS GET $100,000

Los Angeles, Cal., August 25.—After concealing themselves on the roof of a downtown building until midnight, three bandits entered the Ramiller building, bound and gagged Night Watchman Joseph Thomas and then worked leisurely among various offices and escaped with $100,000 worth of loot. The robbery was the boldest committed in Los Angeles in many months.

was asked what he would do. "Everything possible will be done," he replied. "Not forgetting"—and here he pointed significantly to a picture of Theodore Roosevelt, famed wielder of the "big stick" which was pointed in a magazine he had been reading.

The governor lost no time in swinging his forces into action following his conference yesterday with President Coolidge and John Hays Hammond, chairman of the United States Coal Commission. Returning to Harrisburg, he entered immediately into conference with Secretary of Mines Walsh and late into the night he was still hearing reports from his assistant.

CINCINNATI'S FALL FESTIVAL OPENS ON FRIDAY EVENING

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 25.—A parade, including more than 100 floats last night, opened the Cincinnati Fall Festival, reviving an institution that for years paralleled the famous fairs of Leipzig and Prague—a combination of industrial exposition, pleasure carnival and musical contest.

Military and civic organizations, church bodies and music societies, labor unions and trade councils took part in the pageant.

Miss Olga Emrick, winner of a recent beauty contest, was "Miss Cincinnati," a title she will play at Atlantic City in a national pulchritude contest. Miss Norma Groen was "Miss 1923."

Two men on the driver's seat of a float and a number of girls who appeared in allegorical costumes on the float, were affected by carbon monoxide gas and required medical attention immediately after the parade. The men collapsed and were sent to a hospital.

TELLS OF PROBLEMS IN JUVENILE COURT WORK AT MEETING

Probate Judge J. Carl Marshall told members of the Richland Community Club of the problems of juvenile court work at the monthly meeting of the organization in the Richland School Friday night. More than 100 members were present.

Judge Marshall's address was the principal feature of an entertaining program. He explained the value of home life, in rearing a child and said effort was made in his court to place public wards in private homes before they were committed to state institutions.

A program of music recitations and readings preceded Judge Marshall's talk. A quartette composed of Orville Watkins, Thomas Conklin and Misses Flora and Martha Beam, sang several numbers. A vocal duet was the offering of Misses Mildred Edwards and Mrs. Edwin Walley and readings were given by Mrs. Orville Watkins and Mrs. James Matthews, besides a recitation by Miss Hazel Matthews. The Cline Orchestra, augmented by additional instruments, also furnished music.

A scheduled election of officers at the business session was not carried out, and it is thought that the officers will be selected at the next meeting. Mrs. James Lawrence, is president and presided at Friday night's meeting. Delmer Compton, is secretary.

WAR ON PUBLIC DRINKING STARTS

Lima, O., August 25.—War on hip pocket drinking at public dance halls and pavilions at summer parks was opened here last night, when police arrested four youths and declared that every person smelling of liquor at the amusement places would be searched. If pocket flasks are found, charges of possession of liquor, carrying heavy jail sentence and fine under the new Ohio enforcement act, will be preferred. Special detectives will circulate through dance hall and park crowds nightly from now on while a uniformed policeman will be present to make arrests, the identities of the "breath sniffers" being kept secret.

the socialistic union—the Russian Socialist Republic, the Ukraine, White Russia and Transcaucasia—were present.

"Civilization Must Stop Waste," warns Wizard Steinmetz

Sun Energy is Boundless if Used by Mankind Intelligently.

Charles Proteus Steinmetz, one of the great geniuses of the world, came to America an immigrant in the steerage, 34 years ago. He was a cripple from birth, as his father had been before him, but he brought from Breslau, Germany, a splendid education, and a mind trained to hard application. Steinmetz laid the foundations upon which the marvelous development of modern electricity has been built. Every great electrical power plant in America is a monument to his genius. He has invented literally hundreds of improvements and adaptations in the use of the electric current, but the thing that has made his fame world wide is his penetrating knowledge of the fundamentals, his philosophy of civilization, and his sympathy with the needs of humanity.

By CHARLES P. STEINMETZ

IT IS POSSIBLE for us to heat our houses, cook our food, run our great industries, recharge our automobile batteries, and give energy to our radio sets by sun energy. The great source of life on earth—sun power—will be used more fully as mankind is forced by necessity to seek new means of generating heat. More than one way may be found. Crops of new and rapidly growing plants, for instance, may be developed by our botanists and grown on vast acreage by the farmers, to be burned and turned into energy.

It only needs someone to find the proper electro-magnetic wave and we will drive our factories by power transmitted by radio. Picture a great power plant, fed by some scientific and inexpensive fuel, hurling immense waves of electric power into the air, tuned to follow magnetic waves around the world.

Wherever there were receiving stations built and equipped to tap that wave, actual power would be transmitted to commerce and industry at that point. Such a development would require international agreement but its practical development would quickly secure the co-operation of every nation.

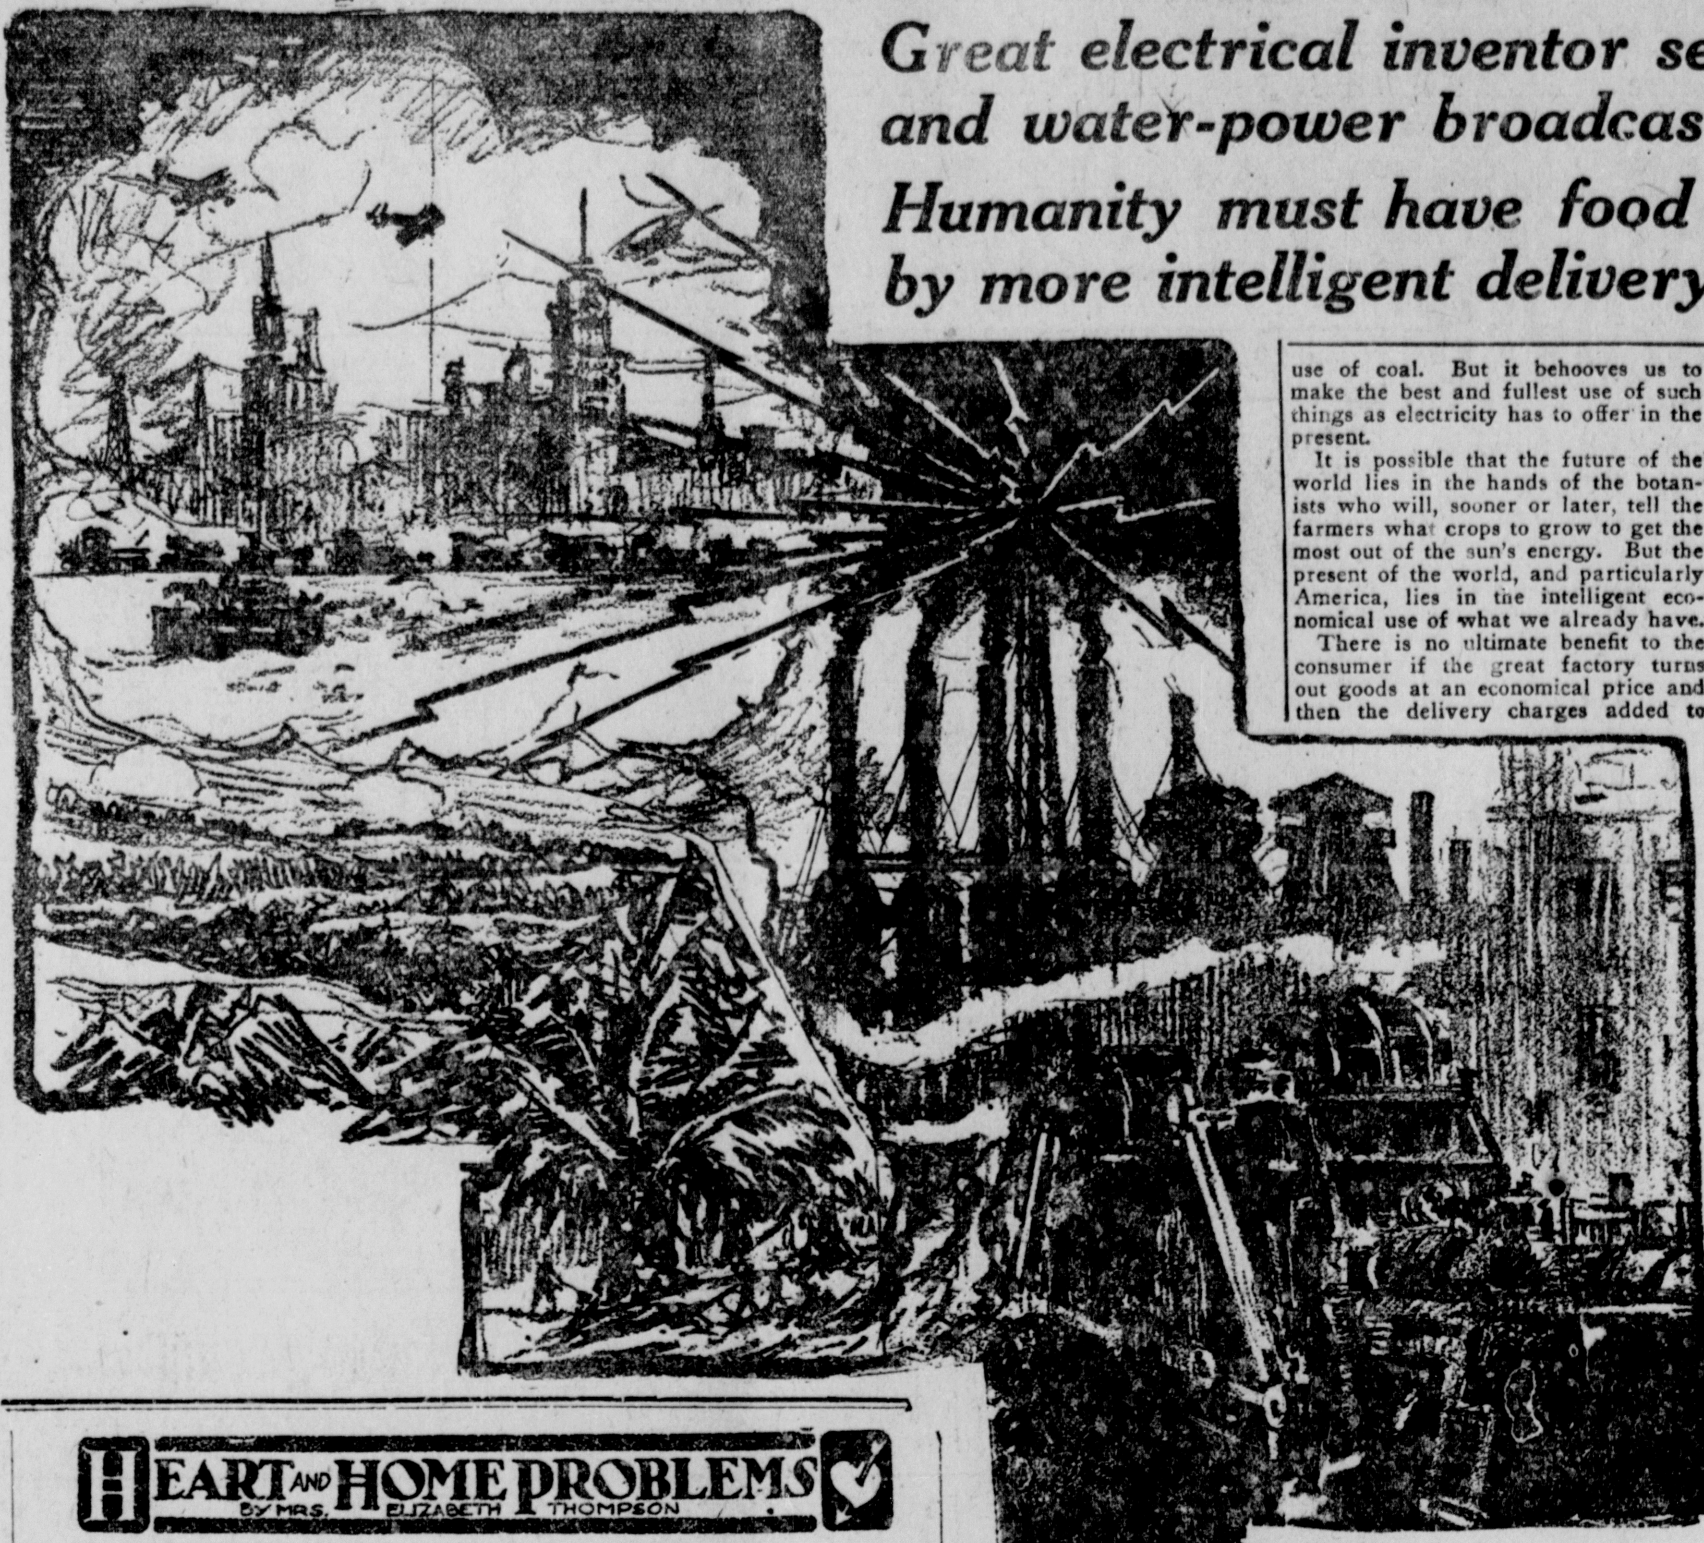

In that way the botanist could cut the coal bills of the nation until not only the necessities but the luxuries of life were within the reach of all. Such radio distribution of water power also is not merely an alluring vision but may become an actuality.

The wider development and use of water power and its broader distribution must come about in a few years. The state of New York alone could cut its coal bill for industrial purposes and the use of public utilities two-thirds by using water power, even without radio transmission. There is available in that state 4,000,000 horse power, or a saving of 34,000,000 tons of coal annually, for you must remember, coal is a very wasteful commodity. A great deal of its heat goes up the chimney and a great deal more radiates from boilers and pipes and never serves any useful purpose.

At present the consumption of fuel in New York is 54,000,000 tons yearly. Recent strikes in coal fields and on railroads have shown that neither of them can be relied upon and that the only real solution of the matter is to become independent of them both.

Water power developing 1,300,000 horse power is now being used in New York, saving annually 10,000,000 tons of coal. The United States uses 10,000,000 horse power generated by water, a saving of 80,000,000 tons of coal annually, and there is a latent horse power of 50,000,000 more, or a saving of 400,000,000 tons. It would still be necessary to use 100,000,000 tons of coal a year for heating.

Great electrical inventor sees sun-power and water-power broadcasted by Radio. Humanity must have food at lower cost by more intelligent delivery methods.

use of coal. But it behooves us to make the best and fullest use of such things as electricity has to offer in the present.

It is possible that the future of the world lies in the hands of the botanists who will, sooner or later, tell the farmers what crops to grow to get the most out of the sun's energy. But the present of the world, and particularly America, lies in the intelligent economical use of what we already have. There is no ultimate benefit to the consumer if the great factory turns out goods at an economical price and then the delivery charges added to times and cut his costs to a minimum. Through its use prices to the ultimate purchaser will drop.

FRUIT GROWERS AND CONSUMERS TO USE CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

Columbus, August 24.—Farmers of Ohio who use fruit, and others who grow it, are expected to practice some direct co-operation through their co-operative associations this year, according to C. W. Walde, fruit and vegetable marketing director of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation.

A plan for using co-operative elevators and other co-operative associations for direct purchase of supplies of Ohio grown fruit has been drawn up.

Under this plan, farmers in sections where fruit is not grown in sufficient quantities, to meet home demands, will place their orders for apples and peaches through their local co-operative. The orders will be filled in carload lots directly from co-operative sales associations in apple and peach growing territory in the state where co-operative associations are prepared to fill the demand, Walde said.

EAST END NEWS

All roads lead to the East High School, where the big union Camp Meeting and Religious Chautauque, sponsored by all of the Colored Churches in Xenia holds sway. Rev. Nathaniel Hawthorne Jeltz, who is known throughout America and in Canada, as the "Colored Billy Sunday" is in charge of these services, and it is generally reported by the hundreds who throng the spacious auditorium nightly to hear him, that he is literally "shell-shocking" the evil doers of the community with his gospel broadsides in song and sermon. Unlike most evangelists, Mr. Jeltz is also a singer of note and directs the big gospel chorus nightly in the singings which he dovetails in the singings into his clear, out and clearly specified gospel message.

A novel feature of this campaign, which is city wide in its scope among the people of color, and is the first of its kind to be ever attempted by the Colored pastors of the city—is the morning parlor prayer and song services that are being held each morning in the homes of the leading families of the community. Dr. Jeltz and wife personally direct these greetings and they are proving an innovation and source of spiritual inspiration to the leaders in matters social of this group in this community.

On Sunday, Dr. Jeltz will address a mass meeting of women only—in the school at three p. m. Mrs. Lucelia Jeltz, wife of the evangelist, assisted by the wives of the associated ministers will act as receiving matrons at this meeting. No men or girls under 14 will be allowed. The subject of this sermon address will be "The God Woman." At the evening hour of the same day the evangelist will deliver his famous sermon, "The Homeland of the Soul." The general public is most cordially invited to all these services. Rev. G. V. Becton, C. H. Young, A. M. Howe, Raphael Hancock, and J. M. Tate, Pastors.

FIVE WORKERS BURNED

Youngstown, O., Aug. 25.—Five men were burned, one perhaps fatally, when a large pile of molten slag exploded as a crusher dropped on it at the plant of the Republic Iron and Steel company. Stephen Marko and Joseph Horvat were taken to a hospital, where it was said that Marko may die.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl almost nineteen years of age and am living with my parents. I am abused terribly. Many times a boy friend of mine asks me for dates and I have to refuse because they object. Sometimes when I happen to meet a boy friend on the street he asks me to go to the show and of course I go. If I happen to come home rather late my father and mother fuss at me and often slap me. They think that I am very easy.

I have a sister who is fifteen years old who can go wherever she pleases without asking. Do you think that my parents are treating me right? MISS D. S.

I do not know just what you imply when you say that your parents think that you are "easy." I presume that they believe you are too familiar with boys and that they are anxious for your welfare. Of course it does not increase their trust in you when you deliberately oppose them and go to the show with some boy.

My advice is to obey your parents as well as you know how. When they see that you are earnestly trying to please them, they will soften toward you and will grant you the freedom that your sister enjoys.

Never forget that when a girl places little importance on her self-respect and is cheap she is throwing mud at herself. You are not hurting your parents if you do wrong half so much as you are hurting yourself. Be proud of your character and protect it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been out of town visiting for about three weeks and when I came home I broke my engagement to a man whom I have been betrothed to. I met a certain young man whom I care for considerably and when I came home I wrote him a note of thanks. My relatives live in that town and I feel sure he knows my betrothal has been broken. I care for his company very much, and so please tell me what to do.

Is it proper to keep all the gifts I have received for my engagement? BLACK EYES.

Since you have written a note to the young man, you have done all you can. If he is interested in you he will follow up the note.

Send back the gifts of value, such as jewelry. * * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man of thirty and was engaged to a lady of twenty-one. I loved her as much as a person could and I know she did the same. When she said she would get married I bought everything and was ready to go to housekeeping. When the time came the girl's mother made the girl leave town. She also told her not to write to me. Now I am broken-hearted. I do not know what to do and so please advise me. JOHN.

There is only one thing a person can do who has suffered bitter disappointment, and that is to make a brave new start and hope for a more kindly future. Perhaps you can use the things you have bought to fit out an apartment and then rent it furnished. Or you may be able to return many of the things under the circumstances. Time and the fates have proved that the young woman was not for you. Do not lose heart, however; there are many more women in the world, and you will find someone else if you try.

"FOLLOW ME" WILL PLAY HERE AUG. 30

The 1924 edition of "Follow Me," will make its appearance at City Hall Theater August 30, through arrangement with the Standard Amusement Company, as the attraction that will open the season at the local theater.

"Follow Me" is a colored musical comedy road attraction that created much favorable comment last season, and which played the Victory Theater, Dayton, to a large audience. The cast is greatly increased this season and augmented by many names celebrated in the colored theatrical world.

Among the best known performers are Billy Higgins and Clifford Ross, two inimitable and irresistible funmakers. Ernest Whitman, the smiling "straight man" with the voice of an opera singer and Julius Costello with his nimble feet, are also featured.

Among the female performers are Dainty Valada Snow, who singing, dancing and playing of numerous musical instruments are of the highest order, and Julia Moody, Sueie Satton and Alice Gorgas who have achieved much fame through the medium of phonographic records. Elvira Johnson, exponent of the art of terpsichore is another featured feature and the "Follow Me" quartette is also highly mentioned.

The chorus is said to be large and lightfooted and the singing good, with good costumes and scenic investiture.

The second Mrs. Andrews, the first Mrs. Andrews and Andrews all lived in the same house before arrest and apparently thought little or nothing of the unusual situation in which they found themselves.

WIFE SWAPS HER HUSBAND FOR A BABY

Mrs. Margaret Barnes & John Barnes.

Mrs. Margaret Barnes, 28, of Peabody, Mass., returning home from a summer vacation, found that her housekeeper, Miss Lucy Phillips, was about to become a mother. When the child was born Miss Phillips admitted that Barnes was the father. The legitimate wife liked the child and, to solve the complicated problem, agreed to give her husband to Miss Phillips in exchange for the child. The offer was accepted. As time passed, however, the young mother changed her mind and decided she wanted her baby back. No settlement could be reached so the case found its way into the courts.

in 78 general elections. Mr. Watkins signed up readily in the farm bureau, stating that although he was probably too old to derive much benefit himself, the organization is of great benefit to others.

The executive committee of the Cass county farm bureau presented Mr. Watkins with a gold medal in June in honor of his distinction as Illinois' oldest farm bureau member.

TO COMBAT PRICE FIXING IN STEEL

S. H. Thompson, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, has been appointed by Governor Len Small of Illinois to represent the American Farm Bureau federation on the state commission empowered by the recent legislature to fight the "Pittsburgh Plus" practice of setting steel prices. In addition to Mr. Thompson, the commission is composed of R. F. Baker, Kewanee, Ill.; B. F. Peek, Moline, Ill.; Senator John T. Denvir and State Representatives J. E. McMakin and R. E. Scholes. The Illinois commission will co-operate with the attorney generals of Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and other states. The United States Steel corporation has now closed its testimony before the Federal Trade commission in the suit now pending. The commission has granted the request of the farmers' representatives to delay the rebuttal hearings until December.

HOME MARKETS TO BE SUPPLIED

A careful investigation of home markets with a view to supplying them, and thereby keeping within the state the great amount of money sent out annually for agricultural products, is called for in the farm bureau program outlined by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau federation.

According to statistics compiled by Mr. O'Neal, farmers of Alabama have a wonderful opportunity to supply home markets if they will determine what is wanted and produce products to meet the requirements. These statistics show that 47 per cent of corn, 31 per cent of hay, 84 per cent of Irish potatoes, 35 per cent of sirup, 75 per cent of meat, 50 per cent of meal, 80 per cent of fruits and 59 per cent of the vegetables handled by dealers in Alabama come from out the state. Nearly all of the poultry, eggs and butter are produced in Alabama.

COOLIDGE'S SONS ARE HARD AT WORK

Calvin Coolidge Jr. and John Coolidge.

When President Coolidge went to Washington to take up the reins of government his two sons did not accompany him. One, Calvin, Jr., aged 14, is shown here holding some of the tobacco leaves he has just plucked on the Dickinson & Day farm, at Hatfield, Mass., where he is working this summer at $3.50 a day. He puts in full nine hours daily, under a hot sun, attired in khaki breeches, old shirt and well-worn shoes. His employers didn't know who he was until after his father took the oath of office. Mr. Coolidge's other son, John, aged 16, is a buck private in the Citizens' Military Training Corps, at Camp Devens, Mass.

"LEST WE FORGET."

Wheat $1 a bushel and the farmers have the "blues." Some of them are already "hogging-in" their corn fields—(turning the hogs in;) and many are talking of feeding wheat to stock instead of corn. And some of them are thinking that we never had such hard times before. They are forgetting the advantages we have, as a country, compared to conditions in many parts of the world.

The fact is we are "flying high" as a people, else why are so many from other parts coming here, fleeing from intolerable predicaments in their old homes? And when we go abroad and find how poorly people live in some sections, we hasten home to "God's country" as we term our own blessed land.

But, adds the distressed farmer, we are not talking about things the world over, we are talking about our own country—we never had such "hard times" here. Mistaken again. We often have seen the time when we thought things couldn't be worse. Do you remember when how glorious Kansas was being eaten up by grasshoppers and drouth, and the roads were blocked with teams of people fleeing from starvation conditions?

And, do you remember, only about twenty years ago, when corn was ten cents a bushel? This writer does. He has seen out west piles of ten cent corn twenty feet high and felt the warmth of burning corn, because coal was so dear. Fact. And now, how glad the farmers have been of the good rains we have been having, every one of them helping in the making of the seventy-five cent November corn crop. Fact, number two.

So, in the midst of our condolence with the farmer over his dollar wheat, we will cheer him a little over his seventy-five cent corn this fall, which will help equalize things, and make him feel that he can postpone for awhile his trip "over the hill to the poorhouse."

It was John Newton who said: "I see in this world two heaps—one of happiness, and the other of misery. Now, if I can take but the smallest bit from the second, and add it to the first, I carry a point. I should be glad indeed to do great things, but I shall not neglect such little ones as this."

The fountain of content must spring up in the mind, and he has so little knowledge of human nature as to seek happiness by changing anything but his own disposition, will waste his life in fruitless efforts and multiply the griefs which he seeks to remove.

A SOUTHERNER'S LOVING TRIBUTE TO HARDING.

Richard H. Edmonds, of Baltimore, long owner and editor of the "Manufacturers Record," is one of the great men of the country. He was born at Norfolk, Va., and lived much in the South but has been loyal to the country. Just before the late world war he wrote a strenuous appeal for patriotism entitled "Shall this nation live or perish?" He is an able writer and has published many pamphlets of a high order in advocacy of good citizenship.

Here are a few sentences from his long edition in the Manufacturers Record, on the death of President Harding:

"A great soul, loving, tender, considerate, a consecrated Christian who missed no opportunity to testify to his belief in the reality of the religion he professed, who enriched the world by his life and leaving behind him a memory of conscientious devotion to duty, has passed to his reward.

"President Harding more nearly typified the beloved McKinley probably than any other man who has ever sat in the presidential chair. He was big enough to gather around him the ablest men to be found in his party. The small man seeks mediocrity around him for fear that greatness might overshadow him. President Harding was not of that type. He sought for members of his Cabinet and for other positions of responsibility men of outstanding ability.

"His death means that a greater responsibility now rests upon every American to carry forward the work of the nation without halting. The leader has gone but we must close ranks and move forward with firm step and unswerving faith to accomplish the great purposes for which this nation was founded."

THE RAILROAD CROSSING

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

The Gazette was honored this afternoon by a serenade from the S. of V. band. The boys made a handsome and neatly appearance in their fine new uniforms, and the members are all right, both in their appearance and the quality of the melody they produce.

A conference of the Y. M. C. A. men of the associations from Dayton, Springfield and Xenia will be held at Neff park Friday and Saturday. Several Xenia dairymen were fined fifty dollars and costs, for selling milk which was below the standard, when the dairy and food inspector visited Xenia yesterday.

Indications point to the fact that the matinee races at Jamestown are established. The management has effected a permanent organization with about fifty members and races will be staged every Monday afternoon.

From time to time, the readers of this column send me their money-saving and labor-saving "discoveries" so that I can publish them and thus help other women to an easier method of housekeeping. The following hints are the best I have received in a long time:

A Column Reader: "To save money when there are a great many cans to be removed from your cellar, you might do as I do: Each time you use a can, wash it well so as to have no odor through the house. Then take it down cellar and see if it will fit inside of a large can. Next time, see if the two cans will go inside of the third; often you will find that three or four can be fitted into each other in this way—thus making one large can save the space that three or four cans would ordinarily take up. For instance, a small sized tomato can will fit inside of a medium-sized raspberry can, and the raspberry can will then go into a larger-sized tomato or fruit can. By this method you will have less to pay, because your loads will be smaller. Bend back the lids (cut all the way around the can when you open it, leaving about one inch uncut), but after you have fitted several cans into a large one, bend the lid of the large one back into place so as to cover its contents. Often I put a vanilla bottle, or some other kind of bottle, in the smallest cans, as well. I never throw away my newspaper; I twist them up tight and use them in the open fireplace, and for kindling the kitchen range."

Mrs. B. N.: "Here are some of my summer short-cuts: I finish all cleaning by July fourth. All drapes and net curtains are washed, ironed and put away until late September. White tablecloths are dispensed with and an Art Oil Cloth, the same size as my round table, is used to eat upon. Mine is blue and white to match the wall paper and rug. This is the second summer I have used it."

"I keep paper bags in the linen closet upstairs and put all dirt and trash in them, then drop the bags down the clothes chute. When I make up the laundry I put the bags (with twisted tops) in a bushel basket, which I empty once a month. As my kitchen cupboards and drawers are all padded with oil cloth these are easily kept clean simply by sponging with a damp cloth. My child takes a pail of warm, sudsy water and a mop and goes over my kitchen floor for me and I let this water remain on, to loosen the dirt, till I make the beds upstairs; I then wipe up the water and swab the baseboard, with clean water and a cloth, which takes only 30 minutes.

"I pare my potatoes in the morning and let stand in water till night. In this way, I have every afternoon and evening to sit on the porch or call."

CUT IN DIVIDEND

Findlay, O., Aug. 25.—The board of directors of the Ohio Oil company declared a dividend of 50 cents per share on the 2,400,000 shares of capital stock of that company, payable Sept. 29, to stockholders on the records Aug. 31. This dividend is a cut of 25 cents per share over the customary dividends declared by this company.

EAST END NEWS

Just Folks

by Edgar A. Guest

LITTLE BY LITTLE
Little by little the lesson's learned,
Little by little the oak tree grows,
Little by little the field is turned,
Battles are won by he little blows;
So be you patient and work and wait,
Little by little all things grow great,
Dream you not of the single stroke

That shall bring you glory and wealth and fame;
All things must carry Time's heavy yoke.

Little by little the forests came,
You must grow as the tree to the goal desired,
Little by little is skill acquired.

Day by day through the ages long
Time has waited for better things,
Waited through centuries red with wrong
And the seeming triumphs of mighty kings;
But little by little, as men cut stone,
Kinder and wiser the world has grown.

Little by little all things are none,
Little by little the building's made,
So stand you fast to the task before you.

And be you dauntless and unafraid,
Work and wait for the goal in view,
Little by little all dreams come true.

Today's Talk

George Sand says that "Books whisper to the heart, but pictures speak to the soul."

The artist selects the fundamentals of what he sees and puts them into immortality through his pictures. And we are thrilled by the fact that he saw what we passed by.

The artist is an idealist. The world of people is mostly practical—striving for a certain success or goal. The artist paints and pictures goals already attained. He dips his brush or pen or other art tool into the reservoir of his heart. His picture that hangs upon your wall is what his soul told him to produce. The artist is not disturbed by mere success. Most great artists have died hungry, but happy.

High interpretation of the simplest truths and most commonplace instances is the aim of the artist.

And so pictures have a story and an aroma of beauty about them that nothing else has, or can give.

There is always something greatly lacking in a home where there are no pictures. They do not have to be rare or expensive pictures, for today beautiful reproductions of the greatest works of art may be had for trifling sums.

I was told the other day an interesting story about a very well known man. His own daughter told me. This man was a great lover of art and had collected during his lifetime some wonderfully beautiful pictures. "Every night," said his daughter, "before father retired, he would go around the rooms and take a parting look at these gems he loved so much."

The minute I got into a hotel room, I look around for the pictures. If there are some good reproductions, I am immediately made less lonely.

The one who creates pictures lives in a life quite apart, for his task is that of tolling and tolling that his soul may catch the essence of beauty at his most inspired moment. The only part of the world that he sees is by its beautiful part.

So you see how much it will mean to you to love pictures, to have them around you, and to gladden the hearts of others by often giving beautiful pictures.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Cedarville, Ohio.
Editor The Gazette and The Republic

can:

In a recent issue of a county newspaper was a statement relative to a record run of paper tonnage at the plant of the Hagar Straw Board and Paper Co. In justice to the former management allow me to correct this statement that 143 tons was the record. I have the run records for some time back and find this run of 143 tons for 5 1-2 days was exceeded when 150 tons was run in 5 3-4 days for the week ending on Sept. 4th, 1920. The week of July 24th, 1920 was 148 tons and numerous weeks can be cited that exceeded 143 tons. I quote these facts and figures not as a reflection on the machine men but to give credit where it was due the past management.

The right make, the right grade and the right weight

THE grade of Carey roofing you should have depends on the type and size of building. The kind of building and the length of service you want to get also governs the weight of roofing you should have.

Our long practical experience in this community as roofers is at your service.

If you will tell us the kind and size of your building and how long you want the roof to last we will be glad to recommend the right grade and weight for your purpose.

A roof that is no better or more expensive than it needs to be, but is just as good as you should have and as inexpensive as you can get to fully answer your purpose—that is what we mean by the right roof for your building.

LOW BIDDER FOR ROAD SURFACING

A. C. Piceheimer, Cincinnati contractor, was low bidder on two different grades of bituminous macadam for the proposed partial re-surfacing of the Dayton and Xenia pike, according to bids announced in Columbus Saturday by State Highway Director Boulay.

If the work is let at this time the re-surfacing will start yet this summer, according to County officials here. The work calls for four miles of re-surfacing from Xenia and will carry the improved roadwork about to Alphus. Piceheimer's bid for bituminous macadam A-1 was $36,199.90, and J. I. Geiser of Dayton, offered a bid on the same grade of bituminous macadam submitted $38,756.60. Piceheimer bid $37,847.70 for bituminous macadam T-1. The letters and figures signify the grade of work officials say the Cincinnati contractor being low on each grade.

Boulay announced low bidders on contracts for 52 miles of road construction and 29 miles of repair and maintenance work, estimated to cost $2,065,736.

stripes, and the ground is gray. But the buttons are not the least bit color-shy. They are frankly and brightly green. So, too, are the slender straps of leather which encircle the wrists and waist, tying in a graceful bow. And last, but extremely important, is the green bit of a handkerchief in the pocket of the scarf, because it calls attention to this original detail.

Perhaps you have read of the splendor of the Grand Prix Ball in Paris, the gorgeous annual event which marks the close of the social season there, and which frequently influences the fashions to a marked degree. This year the costumes were of the Chinese type, with the result that already the Chinese influence is said to be playing an important part in the colors and embroideries of the season. This is also evident to some extent in hats, an example of which is shown in the sketch. This mandarin-like turban from Georgetown is of velvet, trimmed with a shellacked quill around the crown.

Recovers $50,000 Gems Left In Taxicab.

Miss Ruth Thomas

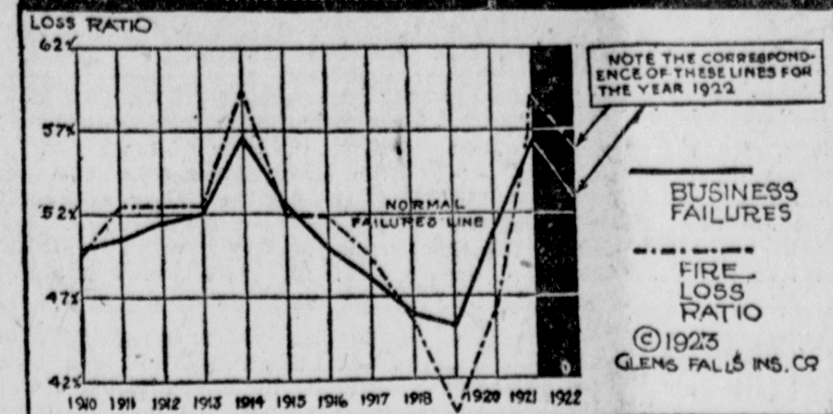

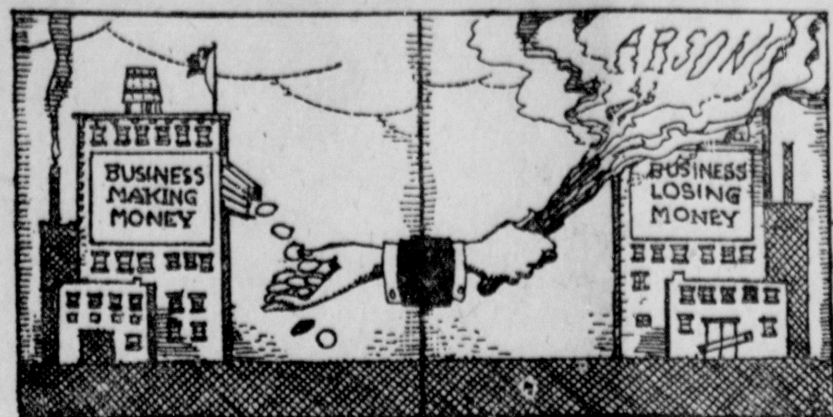

Taxicab drivers will stand high in the estimation of Miss Ruth Thomas a guest at the Hotel Bristol, in New York City. She left $50,000 worth of jewels in a taxi driven by Bernard Reilly. A short time after she had notified the police of her loss Reilly walked into her hotel and handed her the gems. She gave him $500 in crisp $5 bills, which she had intended offering as a reward.

FIRES AS AN INDEX TO INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS

A NEW index of business conditions, especially in certain industries, has been discovered. When there is a marked increase in the number of fires in the establishments of a given industry, it will be found that business in that industry is in bad condition. This assertion is made by Frank R. Morgaridge, who directs the work of the Committee on Incendiarism and Arson of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and is probably the leading authority in the world on the subject.

"You can generally tell the condition of the garment industry, for instance, that it is overstocked, that orders have fallen off and business has slackened away generally, by a marked increase in the number of fires in factories producing such goods," said Mr. Morgaridge. "Take another industry—the leather industry. When we went into the war there was an immediate demand for all sorts of leather products and while the war continued, there was not a single fire in a leather factory. When the war ended and business in that industry slumped, there was a sudden outbreak of fires in leather factories. Why was this?"

Commenting upon the chart recently made public by the Glens Falls Insurance Company, proving from a study over the past eleven years that when business is good, fires decrease and when business is bad, fires increase, he said:

"The figures are there to prove the conclusion. You cannot deny the obvious fact which they prove. Moral hazard is something which cannot be measured, but it must be reckoned with, and it behooves us all to work together toward suppression of this crime."

The committee is working with local authorities in all parts of the country to assist them in investigating cases of incendiarism. In a number of cities, the Police Departments have organized special Arson Squads. Detroit, St. Louis, Dallas and Norfolk being notable examples. Influenced by the large number of incendiary fires in New York City, its District Attorney has created a special department for the investigation and prosecution of this class of crime, appointing an Assistant District Attorney for this special purpose.

Mr. Morgaridge ascribes the existence of moral hazard in fire insurance to the general break-down of morals in the past few years, pointing out that never before were failures from dishonesty, robberies and all sorts of crime so prevalent. Insurance companies, he says, are doing everything they can to minimize insurance of suspicious risks.

PENNSYLVANIA IS SETTING MACHINERY TO AVOID WALKOUT

Washington, Aug. 25.—President Coolidge called in Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania and requested him to make a further effort to mediate the differences between the anthracite miners and operators and avert the strike threatened for Sept. 1.

Governor Pinchot accepted the task and left immediately for Harrisburg, where he promptly will get in touch with the two warring factions. The governor said he had not decided whether he would summon the opposing leaders from Atlantic City singly or jointly. He will follow whichever method seems to hold out the best hope of bringing an agreement.

With this development the main effort to save the country from a hard coal tieup and possibly a sympathetic strike in the soft coal fields is transferred from the national capital to the Pennsylvania state capital. The white house said that this action did not mean that Governor Pinchot "has assumed anything or that the United States has abandoned anything."

The new plan, the spokesman on behalf of President Coolidge stated, is merely one of co-operation between the governor and the federal authorities. The federal government, it was further asserted, has not relaxed its efforts to prevent a strike, but has sought the aid of the Pennsylvania state authorities because they have "jurisdiction more intimate and complete over properties and persons engaged in mining anthracite than that held by the United States authorities." The anthracite industry is confined entirely within the borders of Pennsylvania. The governor has a state license system and other regulatory powers through which he may deal with the situation.

A possible sympathetic strike by the bituminous miners, if the hard coal workers go out Sept. 1, was given some consideration by government officials. Open threats were made that the Sherman anti-trust law would be invoked to combat such a movement. One high official said such a sympathetic strike manifestly would be a conspiracy in restraint of trade under the Sherman law.

At the department of justice it was said the legal branch of the government would be ready to act in the strike when directed to do so by the president. Agents of the department already have made a theoretical examination of the points of law which may be involved, so that action will not be delayed should it become necessary.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25.—The action of President Coolidge in placing Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania in virtual charge of the anthracite strike situation took miners and operators by surprise. The operators privately expressed disappointment that the president himself had not taken a direct hand in attempting to bring about a settlement. They declared the strike danger was not a "state affair," but a "national problem."

The miners declared they saw in the president's action the plan of the government to keep hands off and to give the union the chance to carry out the threat of John L. Lewis, president of the miners, to administer to the operators the worst trouncing in their career.

Meanwhile the officials are going ahead vigorously in preparation for a strike Sept. 1.

RECORD FLIGHT IN AIR ACCOMPLISHED

Hempstead, N. Y., Aug. 25.—All records for flight across the continent were broken when Pilot Wesley L. Smith of the air mail service landed here, completing a relay mail flight from San Francisco in 26 hours and 14 minutes.

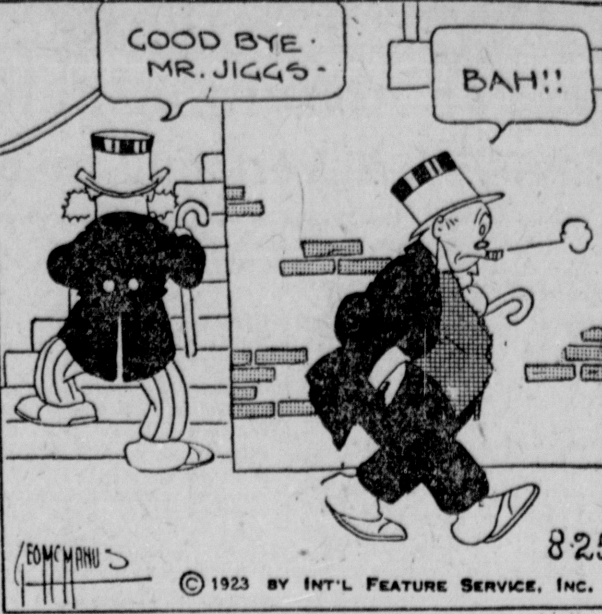

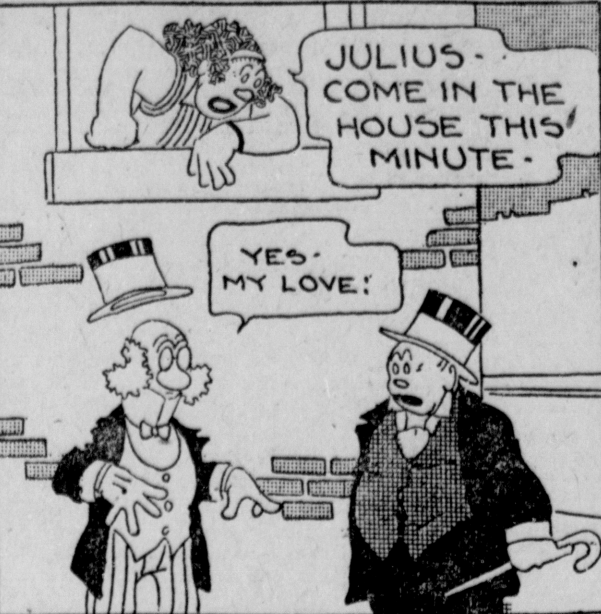

While the mail plane lowered the time of Lieuts. Kelley and MacReady, the army fliers' transcontinental flight was made without a stop and the distance covered was less than the mail's course. Furthermore several pilots and planes were used and four stops made in the air mail's record-breaking dash across country, the mail being transferred from plane to plane at the stop-offs just as the pony express riders used to do in the old days.

The mail flights have been so successful that Postmaster General New announced a regular air mail between New York and San Francisco probably would be established soon. C. F. Edge, general superintendent of the air mail service, sent out a wire of congratulation to the service.

Smith, pilot of the plane and a New Yorker, said he had achieved his ambition in the air service and would retire soon to cultivate his baritone voice for opera.

FARM NEWS OF GREENE COUNTY

FARM PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED BY SPEAKERS AT JOINT GRANGE AND FARM BUREAU OUTING

Representatives of four states, Ohio, Michigan, Virginia and Indiana, and of fifteen Ohio counties, attended the picnic staged by the Greene County Farm Bureau and Grange, at the Fairground, Friday. The day's crowd was estimated at fifteen hundred people.

Attracted by the informal get-together features of the picnic and the unusual program of vital interest to members of both organizations and agricultural men as a whole, farmers from far and near began to arrive at the picnic grounds at ten o'clock in the morning, when the program was scheduled to start.

Following the series of games and contests for boys, girls, men and women, dinner was served throughout the grounds by farmers, families and friends.

Xenia, as one of the four cities of Ohio, fortunate to secure Walton Petzet, director of co-operative marketing for the National Farm Bureau Federation, was the meeting place of farmers from over this section of the country to hear Mr. Petzet and a group of other speakers of state and national importance in farm questions.

The program of speeches, following dinner, was held in the Art Hall, which seats about one thousand people. W. E. Bryson, president of the Greene County Farm Bureau, presided, and introduced the speakers of the afternoon. These included Mr. Petzet, C. A. Dyer of the Ohio State Grange, and Mrs. W. G. Vandenberg, Zanesville, Home Economics specialist, time limiting only three of the several phases of agricultural interest scheduled for the afternoon to be presented to the audience.

The program opened with an introductory talk by Mr. Bryson followed by the singing of "America." The Xenia Grange Orchestra gave selections to intersperse the speeches. The invocation was given by the Rev. Mr. Gordon, Jamestown.

C. A. Dyer, of the Ohio State Grange one of the greatest students of taxation problems in the state, was the first speaker, on "Taxes." The speaker opened with a discussion of the Taft law, a new legislative tax code, which is hanging fire in legislative halls. Neither the Farm Bureau or Grange has taken a stand for or con on the Taft law. Mr. Dyer explained but he immediately voiced his opinion as being in favor of the new law.

He gave two reasons for his acceptance of the law, first that it does not bother the present system of taxation and second, combined with the Griswold law, will put Ohio out of debt.

"Officers that levy taxes today, will not hold their positions if the new law goes into effect according to Mr. Dyer, and the new system will create a 'real budget system.' The tax budget will be put in the hands of a budget commission, the speaker explained, and the public will be given more freedom to examine the process of levying taxes.

"The Smith law is the most vicious law ever enacted in the State of Ohio," declared Mr. Dyer.

The new budget commission, created under the Taft law, will be given one power, that to reduce the tax levy to fifteen mills. The Taft law provided two sets of limitations, that of rural and city. "If the Taft law succeeds, you will save eighty-five cents a thousand less than last year," Mr. Dyer said.

"The trouble with the farming communities and the public as a whole, is that they have been thinking politics and not public business," the speaker declared. "I was not in favor of woman suffrage but my wife made me vote for it, and I am now convinced that women will keep the country out of debt, and draw us men out of the mire of politics."

"You have a chance to fight extravagance under the Taft law, that you never had before, by being given the power to go before the budget commission and having the tax expenses cut," Mr. Dyer told his audience. "The Taft law means that there will not be the expense of special elections, out side of the November election; it makes it harder to issue bonds and it will save the state of Ohio a million dollars a year."

"The Grange and Farm Bureau have fought the state levy, so that they can spend it at home. There is one danger in the Taft law—it makes more money for current expenses."

"The Albaugh law appoints a board of assessors, which is now the auditor's job, and is nothing but a political scheme," declared Mr. Dyer.

"The country people are foolish if they turn the Taft law down." At this point County Auditor R. O. Wead questioned Mr. Dyer on his statements concerning special elections and bond issues. Both men misunderstood the statements of the other and after a short cross-fire, settled the matter to their mutual satisfaction.

Mr. Dyer also discussed the Workmen's Compensation Law, amendment, which comes up this year. He explained the fact, that the law gives the workman hurt while at work, and entitled to the Workmen's compensation, the liberty of refusing the compensation and suing his employer. The compensation law question according to Mr. Dyer is an expensive proposition and creates a new class of dependents. "It destroys civilization and creates fraternalism and is a snare for the so-called 'uplifters.'"

"The power of government grew out of the creation of personal property and to me, personal property is the most sacred thing on earth."

"Get rid of tax-free securities." "Any farmer that does not belong to a Farm Organization, is a charity patient in that he is reaping the benefits of the cooperation of the organization, without paying," the speaker declared.

Walton Petzet, director of co-operative marketing for the National Farm Bureau Federation, the second speaker, opened his address, with a short tribute to O. E. Bradfute, of Xenia, president of the National Farm Bureau Federation. "He is taking a commanding position in the field of organized agriculture," Mr. Petzet said.

"The Agriculture of the nation is now passing through one of the most important phases in the world, which is equal to that of the Industrial Revolution," said the speaker. "Some fundamental change must be made for agriculture's declining and farmers are moving from the country to the city."

"The investment of labor and capital, in agricultural production, yields a lower return over a period of years, than in any other enterprise."

prise. "The permanency of agriculture and civilization, depend on the ward of investment in agricultural production. No nation can survive, when agriculture declines."

"The permanency of agriculture and civilizations, depends on the reward of investment in agricultural production. No nation can survive, when agriculture declines."

"The present conditions are not peculiar to any one section of the country, but apply to all. In every state I have visited, the farmers voice the same complaints, and are dissatisfied with present conditions. Something must be done, for the spirit of unrest, varies only in degrees."

"Ohio has been more wholesome, but has had the same discontent. She has shown more understanding, and is less willing to embrace the unsound doctrines of relief. The reason for this is that Ohio has a balanced system of agriculture, and has the leadership of farm organizations, with fixed programs, where other states are not so fortunate."

"The reason for the decline in agriculture is that industry is steadily going up. Two generations ago all producing was done by one individual. The industrial revolution changed from the basis of individual selling to group selling."

"Today every article of commerce, except agriculture is sold jointly by many men. There is joint labor and capital, industry has devised a corporation, the machine of co-operation and pooled her labor and capital."

"Agriculture remains alone as an example of individual production and selling. Agriculture will never be restored until it avails itself to the same efficiencies, as industry and commerce."

"The problem confronts the American farmer, that to bring agriculture to the same plane, they must retain individual production, also group selling and combine under co-operative associations. This fact is being realized everywhere, as a forward movement."

"It is no longer a question whether farmers will co-operate, but a question of when and how they will do it. No farmer in Ohio is strong enough or wise enough of his own product to market for its true value the product of his farm. Men of trade and co-operation must be equally versed in the product handled. The average farmer must know all phases of his business and the market."

"Today, the business of agriculture is manufacturing the same as any other field of labor. Farmers are combined into a dual person of producer and consumer. They have found a solution, is co-operating for marketing, and have been found ready to co-operate, and are loyal and sincere, but they require that they must get value received."

"The aim of co-operative marketing is to merchandise farm products—to substitute merchandizing for dumping supplies on the market, regardless of the consuming power of that market."

"Farmers have always felt that there was a league of conspiracy against them. They measure their opportunity by what they get for what they sell and what they pay for what they buy. There is no conspiracy but the blindness of farmers. They are not prepared to regulate their prices, and as long as they sell blindly and dump, the buyer is going to name the price, and agriculture as a result will be unstable."

"The remedy for this condition is co-operative merchandizing, and the regulation of your surplus."

"Factors that are necessary to merchandise farm products, are the existence of the right type of co-operative organization, a purely business organization, operated by commodity and not operated for profit. Every member of the organization must produce the product handled. Members of the association, must have a contract with the central association."

"The maximum of efficiency of co-operative organizing is yet to be reached. The organization must employ experts, exert democratic control, and study the market, and needs of the consumer, and extend the market."

"An important secret is to regulate your supply and increase your demand. The difference is the difference between loss and gain, and is only reached through co-operative marketing."

"All products will some day be marketed cooperatively," Mr. Petzet said in closing.

Mrs. W. G. Vandenberg Zanesville, was the last speaker on "Home Economics." She appealed to the women, concerning their part in the farm organizations, and farm house management.

Opening at ten o'clock, a series of games and contests was arranged by the contest committee. The following are the prize winners:

Contests for Boys—100 yd. dash, Hollis Peterson, $1.00; James Stormont, .50; horse shoe pitching, James Stormont, $1.00; Charles Funk, .50; obstacle race, John Finney and Malcolm Finney, box of candy.

Contests for Girls—50 yd. dash, Mildred McKay $1.00; Rowena McKay, .50; Ball throwing contest, Helen Conklin, box of candy; potato race, Lucile Pitstick $1.00; Marguerite

Burrell .50.

Contest for Women—Nail driving contest, Mrs. Ray Fudge, box of candy ball throwing contest, Mrs. Mildred Watkins, box of candy; peanut race, Mabel Stormont, $1.00; Mrs. Pitstick .50c.

A Tag-of-War, between ten men and twenty women, was won by the women.

Styles BY LENORE

An interesting collar-treatment is illustrated in the green and black crepe marocain two-piece costume shown in the sketch. The diagonal line of the black ball buttons create an unusual effect. Royal blue and navy is another smart combination for this design, and the former shade is particularly timely.

WORTH KNOWING

Wide box pleats are said to be the new idea in imported clothes. Gypsy sash girdles are a lively note in fall fashions.

Ribbon plays an important part in curious embroidery effects.

Square necklines are being tried out in fall dresses.

There is a trend toward softer cloths in woollens.

Some of the newest evening frocks are made with almost bizarre simplicity of crepe satin, with plain bodices and circular skirts. An old-fashioned nosegay may be perched on the shoulder.

Jaunty looking three-quarter length coats of soft woollens are suggested for between-season wear.

Again it is announced that the bobbed head is doomed. Unless it is cropped close to the head and shingled.

A WIFE'S STORY

By Jane Phelps

Chapter X

How I reached the station I never knew. But somehow I found myself on the train for home. I felt as if everything were slipping from under me, as if there was no longer anything stable in the world.

It may seem strange, considering my doubts of Paul's success, my fears, that what had happened should so affect me. But when one considers that from the time I met him, his book, the publishing of it, the glory that would come because of it, had been the big thing in my life; it may not seem so strange. Then too, our need of money—Paul had made me feel how desperately we needed it—his lack of a profession or business experience by which he might earn it, frightened me.

Little Joan toddled to meet me. I fairly snatched her to my breast, and without taking off my wraps I rocked her in my arms, holding her close, crooning over her. She was my only comfort.

To my surprise Paul came home. Neither of us referred to the incident of the afternoon. He was very quiet, almost surly, and I effaced myself as much as possible.

Evelyn and George Markham came in during the evening. "You're looking seedy," George said to Paul. "You are working too hard. All work and no play, you know, isn't good for anyone."

"You're a nice one to talk!" Evelyn broke in. "A man who slaves as you do is a nice one to give advice."

"I have to keep at it. My profession demands it. But it's different with Norwood. A writer's time is his own, especially a lucky one, like Paul, who has money to live on while his ideas are forming. By the way, Paul, how is the great American novel coming on?"

A dull red flush crept over Paul's face, and I turned hot, then cold, scarcely breathing while waiting for his answer.

"I haven't been working very much lately, had other things that demanded my time and attention," replied Paul, urbanely. "Writing is only a pastime with me."

I saw a quickly repressed look of surprise cross Evelyn's face. When we first became acquainted I had made a confident of her, had told her of my hopes and ambitions, my belief that Paul was a genius, that his book would mark him as a great writer.

How easily one can believe—when they want to.

I felt chagrined, even angry, as my husband so easily parried their questions. He knew his years had been wasted, that his book was a failure, that he had not done anything else that prevented working on it. I felt like screaming it all at them: the afternoon's incident, my disillusionment, all that was making me so miserably unhappy.

But instead I tried to smile, to talk, but Evelyn saw the effort it cost me, and soon proposed they leave.

"Ruby looks all in, tonight," she said. "We'd better go and let her go to bed."

"She always looks tired when she goes in town to shop," Paul answered. "Tries to spend too much money I guess."

"She's lucky to have it to spend," George said as they rose to go. "What did you say that for? You know it isn't true! I exclaimed as the door closed after our guests. 'You know it wasn't the little shopping I did that tired me; and too much money! The little I have to spend nowadays. What's the use of pretending any longer? I'm tired of it, tired to death.'"

"Yes, I suppose you are, and with your small country ideas would like to publish the fact we were broke, and have my creditors swooping down upon me. You keep still about my affairs. I won't have you talking to the Markhams, or to anyone. The way you acted tonight they're bound to suspect."

"But they'll have to know soon, everybody. We can't live without money, not without a good deal according to the way we have spent it since we married. Oh, why won't you be frank with me, tell me just how we stand, let me help you."

Paul suddenly looked old, tired. "Don't talk to me tonight! I can't stand it!" and taking his hat, he rushed from the house.

Tomorrow—A Sympathetic Friend

THOUGHT BACK WOULD BREAK

Nothing Helped until She Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"When my baby was born," says Mrs. Poslusny, 106 High Street, Bay City, Michigan, "I got too soon. It made me so sick that I was tired of living and the weakness run down something awful. I could not get up out of bed mornings on account of my back; I thought it would break in two, and if I started to do any work I would have to lie down. I do not believe that any woman ever suffered worse than I did. I spent lots of money, but nothing helped me until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I felt a whole lot better after the first bottle, and I am still taking it for I am sure it is what has put me on my feet."

If you are suffering from a displacement, irregularities, backache, nervousness, headache or any other form of female weakness you should write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts, for Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." It will be sent you free upon request. This book contains valuable information.
